Most in unison on K-9 issue

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

No definitive decision has been made as to whether the police department's K-9 unit should be allowed into the high school for random searches, but officials are one step closer to finding middle ground.

"I'm optimistic that we can make it through this legal thicket," said Supt. Dennis Hockney. "Both sides have a better understanding of the legal issues involved." He added that he hopes that a resolution will be reached by the school board's next meeting on Dec. 12.

Representatives of Antioch Community High School District 117 came together with members of the Antioch Police Department, as well as legal counsel for both entities, to determine if and how random searches should be allowed at the school. It was a follow up to a special meeting of the school board in which about 75 parents and concerned residents made their feelings known.

"Privacy, civil rights, I don't care what it is," said Laurie Behrendt. "There's no reason not to let the dog in."

The school board made its presentation after audience members had a chance to speak their minds. Results of the American Drug and Alcohol Survey, published by the Rocky Mountain Behavior Sciences Institute, were posted with the promise that they would be mailed to all households. Results comparing the 1997-98 survey with the 2001-02 survey show that there has been a decrease in drug use at the high school.

"By taking a very pro-active approach and sharing the results at a variety of public meetings, it was the hope of the school district that the entire community would become involved," said Hockney, who indicated that the question bringing the room of people together was that of police intervention. "Everyone desires a drug-free environment."

The board reiterated that its legal counsel had cautioned against letting the K-9 unit in for random searches.

"On the surface, it seems like an easy decision to make," said board of education president Phil Delany.

Village hits brakes on future developments

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

A temporary moratorium of certain annexation and zoning amendment requests has received positive recommendation by the combined planning and zoning board and will appear on the village board's agenda on Dec. 2.

"There will be some exceptions," said Bob Silhan, Antioch's director of planning, zoning and building. "There are certain windows the board may wish to take advantage of, and we have to respect the vested rights of property owners whose property is already zoned for a specific use."

The goal is to give officials an opportunity to update the Comprehensive Plan that will include a corridor plan for Route 173 and to amend discrepancies between the village's subdivision code and PUD ordinances.

If approved by the board of directors of the Village of Antioch, the moratorium will become effective on Jan. 1, 2003 and will last at least six months. Beyond that, the progress toward meeting objectives will be evaluated and the moratorium may be extended.

In short, the village will not accept or consider petitions filed after Dec. 31 for annexation, rezoning, preliminary planned unit development (PUD) or multiple variations. Silhan made a number of recommendations that were approved as a condition of making a positive recommendation to the village board.

Property can be annexed into the village that falls under R-1 zoning (rural estate, five-acre lots minimum). Property can be annexed that is currently within unincorporated Lake County and GC (general commercial) or GO (general office), per the zoning map adopted by the county in 2000, and proposed for annexation and commercial development within the village.

Additionally, property that has been depicted as commercial, office/business park or industrial on Plate 7 of the 1991 Comprehensive Plan may be annexed.

Silhan also made allowances for properties that by their "unique location" may provide an appropriate site (in the engineer's opinion) for a well and water tower or that could provide for or facilitate inter-governmental cooperation between "local units of government relative to improvements to schools, parks, roads, utilities or other public amenities."

The village board would have the right to pursue legal means to enforce existing boundary agreements and could object to proposed rezoning on unincorporated properties contiguous to or within one and one-half miles of the Village of Antioch limits that do not conform to the Comprehensive Plan.

Board of education has vacancy Peterson's departure leaves void

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School's (ACHS) board of education has the task of finding a replacement for board member Larry Peterson.

Peterson resigned unexpectedly after serving well over two full terms. He was the board's current secretary.

"This was a shock, and he will be missed," said Supt. Dennis Hockney. "He was an outstanding board member." Hockney indicated he had been elected three times, and served a partial term prior to his first election.

Hockney said it was unnecessary for the board to officially accept Peterson's resignation. "Good," replied board member Sandy

Jacobs. "We wouldn't do it."

The board did nominate and elect Bill Ahlers, the district's business manager, to serve as secretary.

Given the timing of Peterson's resignation, the board of education will have 45 days to fill the vacancy. "The school code is specific about this," said Hockney. "Because there are more than 868 days from the receipt of the letter until the April 2005 election, and because there are more than 88 days between now and next April's election, the board must appoint a person for the period between now and April 1, 2003."

Petitions for inclusion on the ballot can be circulated until Jan. 21. Petitions can be filed with the school between Jan. 13-21 and must be filed with the Lake County Clerk by Jan. 21.

Osmond speaks out on national issues

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"I'm neither opposed to death penalty reform nor to increasing the penalties for terrorists," said Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch). "I think it is important to introduce the death penalty reforms separately."

Osmond praised the members of the House of Representatives of overriding Gov. George Ryan's amendatory veto to house bill 2058, the house terrorism package that was approved during the spring legislative session. "This bill concerns protecting the citizens of Illinois from terrorists acts, and the changes to the death penalty should not be tacked on as an afterthought."

Osmond said some of the recommendations are controversial and warrant serious discussion. "We need to look at the two issues separately," he said. Among those were proposals to give trial judges a right to veto a jury's decision, and the admissibility of videotaped confessions in court.

POLICE BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

LAKE VILLA

DUI

Ronald W. Slavin, 21, of 38716 N. Gratton, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov. 16, at 2:53 a.m., while driving eastbound on Route 132 near Route 83. He was stopped by police near Walgreen's after he was observed driving off the roadway after leaving the Nuttie's Bar parking lot. His insurance card expired five months ago. The driver performed poorly on field sobriety tests, which were videotaped with equipment in the squad car. A breath test yielded a result of .231 BAC. An inventory of the car turned up a closed bottle of beer and brass knuckles. Slavin was charged with improper lane usage, DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and driving an uninsured motor vehicle. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Dec. 20, at 9 a.m.

John C. Gerren II, 29, of 1503 N. Ramble Rd., McHenry, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov. 13, at 1:56 a.m., while driving westbound on Monaville Road near Fairfield. He was observed driving 65 mph in a 55-mph zone. He told police he "only had one Long Island Iced Tea at Nuttie's." He failed three of three field sobriety tests, and a breath test yielded a result of .156 BAC. He was charged with speeding, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Dec. 20, at 9 a.m.

Consumption of alcohol by a minor

Timothy M. Barkhurst, 19, of 18599 Old Gages Lake Rd., Gages Lake, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Nov. 9, at 2:34 a.m., while driving eastbound on Monaville Road near Cedar Lake Road. He was stopped after police noticed his tires squealing as he sped away from a stop sign at a speed of 61 mph in a 45-mph zone. He was seen crossing the double yellow centerline and weaving on the roadway. He said he only had two drinks. He failed field sobriety tests, and a PBT yielded a result of .237 BAC. He refused additional breath testing and refused to answer questions. He was charged with squealing tires, speeding, improper lane usage and consumption of alcohol by a minor. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Grayslake Branch III court, on Jan. 15 at 1:30 p.m.

Aggravated battery

On Nov. 18, at 9:54 a.m., a 14-year-old male was charged with two counts of battery and one count of aggravated battery following an incident at Palombi Middle School, according to Lake Villa Police. The youth allegedly got into a physical altercation with another student over the return of an item, alleged to be a pipe.

Criminal damage to property

Lake Villa Police received a report of damage to construction equipment at the new Antioch Community High School fields on the southeast corner of Grass Lake and Deep Lake roads. The damage apparently occurred between 5 p.m. on Nov. 17 and 5 a.m. on Nov.

18. Four construction vehicles, a Ford tractor, a Unilever caterpillar, a 1989 GMC truck and a hydroseeder sustained damage to grills, radiators and lights. Estimated costs averaged around $300 per vehicle, according to the police report. There are no suspects, and no arrests have been made.

Deer hit

Within less than an hour, two deer caused accidents in Lake Villa.

On Nov. 19, at 8:44 p.m., a deer was struck by a motorist on Grand Avenue, just west of the Lake Villa Rescue Squad building. The driver did not remain on the scene. Police destroyed the deer.

On the same night, at 9:15 p.m., a 19-year-old Lake Villa man, attempting to avoid hitting a deer on Fairfield Road near Apache Trail, swerved. His brakes locked and the car skidded, ending up 45 feet into a nearby cornfield. No one was injured in the incident.

DUI

Angela M. Burrell, 24, of 2017 Greystem, Gurnee, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 23, at 12:13 a.m., while driving on Sand Lake Road near Cross Creek. She was observed driving 42 mph in a 30-mph zone. She failed four of four field sobriety tests, and a breath test yielded a result of .191 BAC. She was charged with speeding, improper lane usage, DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and failure to notify the secretary of state about an address change. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Dec. 10, at 9 a.m.

Trespass, battery, resisting arrest

Stephen A. Sarrazine, 36, of 561 Franklin, Mt. Prospect, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 23. He was charged with criminal trespassing, resisting arrest and battery. He was attempting to pick up his daughter at a house on Oxford Court. When his sister-in-law told him to wait in his car, he refused. She called police. He refused to obey when police asked him to leave the premises. He resisted when police handcuffed him, and allegedly slammed a car door on an officer's arm. He reportedly threatened his sister-in-law's life. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-452, on Dec. 20, at 9 a.m.

Damage to property

Five 15-year-old males were charged with criminal trespass and taken into custody by Lindenhurst Police on Nov. 13, at 5:37 p.m. The youth were arrested after a glass door was broken at the Men's Club at 1949 Old Elm Rd. The boys were skateboarding at the site, in spite of posted signs warning "no skateboarding." Allegedly, one of the boys became angry when he could not complete a stunt, and he threw his board through the glass. He was also charged with criminal damage to property. He and one other youth were remanded to Depke Youth Center, while the other three were given station adjustments. The damage to the door was estimated at under $300.

Lions distribute holiday meals

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"The main concern is that the children have a good holiday," said Rich Kufalk, who chairs the Lions Club's committee in charge of the turkey baskets.

For more than 30 years, the Lions Club has used some of the money it raises throughout the year to purchase and distribute all the makings of a great holiday meal at both Thanksgiving and Christmas. "We like to be able to help," said Kufalk. "We include things like cookies and apples and other fruit for the children, but the baskets also include a turkey, potatoes, eggs and bread and butter."

The assembly and delivery will take place out of the Antioch Rescue Squad as many of the Lions Club Members either are or have been involved with the rescue squad.

Kufalk added that it's typical of the rescue squad and its members to help out when needed with discretion. "We keep our mouths quiet," he said. "That's what the rescue squad does. We take care of people and it doesn't matter who they are or what their circumstances."

The club is distributing about 55 baskets for this Thanksgiving. "I'm still working on the exact count, and it may even go higher," he said.

Kufalk said the club keeps things straight by coordinating its efforts with those of the township, the Rotary Club and local churches.

"We need to make sure that everyone is taken care of over the holidays and we do this by working together," said Kufalk.

The Lions Club volunteers will also be getting help from some local Boy Scouts and students from Antioch Community High School.

"There will be plenty of help just as there always is," said Kufalk.

Heart of Hastings Lake YMCA might be saved

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Hastings Lake YMCA's heart, the membership center located on the east campus off Grass Lake road, may be safe, regardless of the sale of the rest of the campgrounds, according to Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk.

In a press release read at the Nov. 25 meeting of the Lindenhurst Village Board of Trustees, Baumunk stated he had met that morning with representatives of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago. In the meeting, he was given assurances that the member center, including the indoor pool and fitness center, would remain in operation, regardless of any sale.

"If the Hastings Lake Community coalition is the successful bidder, we would look to them to maintain the YMC presence in the community," said the mayor in his statement.

Baumunk indicated there was no doubt the Metro YMCA association intended to sell at least some of the property, which includes three campuses in unincorporated Lake Villa.

Chicago association spokesperson Nicole Leiter confirmed the plan to retain what local residents call the "community center."

Hastings Lake Community Coalition spokesperson George Richter said, "This is a step in the right direction. It is good news, but it is only part of the puzzle."

"What happens to after school programs and camping," he asked.

Leiter said the future of such programs was dependent on how the other portions of the property were to be used. She noted the east campus, where the community center sits, also contains other buildings that might be adaptable.

The news will not deter the coalition from its goal of acquiring the property and running it as an independent YMCA, Richter said.

"We still feel an independent Y would flourish better than one run from outside the community," he reiterated.

While acknowledging that Lindenhurst has no authority to tell the association it cannot sell its property, the mayor made it clear to the Chicago representatives that there are some uses of the land that are more desirable than others.

"We talked about what we would like to see," said Baumunk. A corporate campus, or a gated community such as the sort run by Del Webb, catering to those over 55, were among the options deemed acceptable.

"This would not put a burden on our schools," the mayor noted.

Lindenhurst is in a position to exert some influence on the future use of the property because, as the mayor pointed out, "any development that goes on has to come through this board."

Baumunk said the future of the pool and fitness center were the only issues discussed in the meeting. He said the association representatives said the 50 employees at that facility would keep their jobs, and that a new executive director would be sought.

According to Leiter, Cynthia Szybski will serve as interim executive director until the future of the facility is more certain.

Former executive director Jim Scherer left Hastings Lake on the heels of the announced marketing. He is presently working in the same capacity at a YMCA in Wallingford, Conn.

Casual day benefits high school student

Employees of the First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBO) will pay $2 for the privilege of dressing casually on Friday, Nov. 29 to benefit the Michael P. Lynn Fund to help offset the costs of Lynn's cancer treatment.

"Customers and community members are invited to join us in helping this cause with a donation," said Karen Kubin, marketing director at the bank. "FNBO is committed to community involvement, and this is a really worthy cause."

Lynn is a senior at Antioch Community High School. One hundred percent of the money raised will go to the fund in his benefit.

Kubin added, "We enjoy our casual days because we get to dress casual while helping put money towards a good cause."

FNBO's "casual because we care" program has been running since 1995 and has benefited a number of individuals and organizations.

For more information, call Kubin at 847-838-2265. Donations can be mailed to the FNBO c/o Casual Because We Care, 485 Lake Street, Antioch, IL 60002.

Free movie benefits food pantry

On Saturday, Nov. 30 at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m., area children will be treated to a free movie at the Antioch Movie Theater while getting into the true holiday spirit of helping those who are less fortunate.

In an ongoing tradition, the First National Bank-Employee Owned (FNBO) sponsors the movie for children of all ages who bring two non-perishable food items to the theater to be donated to the Antioch Food Pantry. Two showings are being held at the PM&L Theatre, that also typically provides entertainment for donations to the food pantry on that morning, is under renovation.

This year's movie is "Stuart Little 2." The movie is rated G. Karen Kubin, the bank's marketing officer said, "We do this every year as part of the Antioch holiday celebration. It provides parents with a perfect opportunity to get some holiday shopping done in downtown Antioch while their kids see a great movie, and help a charitable organization."

Items high in demand are canned soup, peanut butter and jelly, macaroni and cheese, noodles, and both hot and cold cereal. The movie is free to each person who brings two or more non-perishable items to be donated to the pantry.

"This movie is not just for Antioch residents," said Kubin. "Anyone is welcome who is making a donation to the pantry."

The Antioch Movie Theater is located at 378 Lake St. in Antioch.

Did you know that James Mitchell who is playing Demetrius in the PM&L production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was also a Jobs for Illinois Graduates (JILG) student? He was. He graduated in 2002.

Other JILG students preparing for life after graduation are Heather Darling (2003) who has been accepted to the St. Louis College of Pharmacology, as well as Amber Stojack and Cassie Kemp (2003) who have received letters of acceptance from Southern Illinois University Carbondale and Edwardsville respectively.

Taking the hassle out of your holiday

Now that Thanksgiving is over, it's time for the countdown to Christmas. With so many extra things to do, where does a person start? Planning ahead will help take the hassle out of your holiday.

Decorating

Decorate early so you can enjoy Christmas as long as possible. Thanksgiving weekend is a great time to put up your Christmas decorations. After all, you probably have enough leftovers so you won't need to cook, and do you really want to fight the crowds at the mall? Enjoy the peace and quiet of home and decorate for Christmas.

Christmas cards

Choose Christmas cards portraying the real meaning of Christmas. Mail cards early to alleviate stress. Compose a general Christmas letter with "Dear Family and Friends" and make copies. Include some news about each person in your household. Sure it would be nice to write a personal letter to everyone on your Christmas card list, but will you? Wouldn't you rather receive a general newsletter than no letter at all?

Make sending Christmas cards a family affair. Choose a time when everyone will be home. Gather around the table. Play your favorite Christmas music. Assign each family member a specific task such as sign the card, fold the letter, address the envelope and check it off the list, put the stamp on, place the return address label on, seal the envelope, and decorate the envelope with stickers. It really can be fun and a great timesaver with everyone working together.

Gifts

Make a gift list, decide how much your Christmas budget will be, then stick to it! Shop early and check items off your list as you buy. Remember to ask for gift receipts and gift boxes as you purchase items. Take advantage of free gift wrapping services. Keep all your Christmas receipts in one envelope at home.

WORTHY

Designate a gift-wrapping center in your home. Have wrapping paper, tissue paper, boxes, bows, gift tags, scissors, pens, and plenty of tape on hand. Wrap gifts as you buy them and encourage others to do the same.

Consider giving creative gifts such as a favorite recipe with two or three ingredients included, a homemade ornament, a gift basket with items to fit that person's hobby, homemade cookies or nut bread. Gift coupons offering your time, services, or a homemade dessert can be great for the person who has everything.

Cookies

The best way to have a variety of homemade cookies is to be involved in a cookie exchange. It is easy to set up with neighbors, friends, or co-workers. Establish the day the exchange will take place. If you have six people in the exchange, each person needs to bring six dozen homemade cookies of all the same kind and a large empty container. Everyone will be delighted to take home an assortment of six dozen homemade cookies.

If you're not interested in a cookie exchange, plan on making several different kinds of cookies on the same day. You can use the same bowls, measuring cups and spoons saving on multiple clean-up times. Now sit back and enjoy the extra time you have.

Toys for Tots rally point starts in area

A motorcycle rally ride benefiting Toys for Tots via the U.S. Marine Corps will leave out of Midwest Choppers located at the intersection of Deep Lake Road and Route 173 on Dec. 1 at 7:30 a.m.

The ride will go all the way through downtown Chicago officially beginning at the Dan Ryan Woods and ending at Marine Center.

There is no entry fee, but a toy must be donated for Toys for Tots. Midwest Choppers asks that toys be something other than stuffed animals.

SCHOOL DIGEST

Raffle buys toys for the needy

For the third year JILG (Jobs for Illinois Graduate) students from Antioch Community High School will be holding a raffle in December to benefit needy families.

The class is in the process of obtaining prize donations from local businesses and selling raffle tickets to raise money to buy toys for needy children during the holiday season.

Nominees sought for wall of success

Central High School of Westosha is initiating the first annual "wall of success" alumni recognition program. Nominees are being sought until Friday, Jan. 17, 2003.

Any person who graduated from Salem Central or Westosha Central High School and who has achieved success in life and/or has made a major contribution to the school over the past 50 years is eligible. All nominees will be asked to fill out a questionnaire that the committee will use for the selection process.

Honorees will be asked to help the school celebrate on Wall of Success Day, May 16, 2003.

Nominations should be mailed to: Central High School, c/o Connie Threlkeld, principal's secretary, 24617 75th Street, PO Box 38, Salem, WI 53168.

For more information call either Gene Olson at 262-697-4184 or Mark Hurlbut at 262-843-1987.

T-shirts save rainforests

This year, eighth grade students at the Antioch Upper Grade School will help save the rainforest in the Calakmul Biosphere Reserve in Mexico on the Yucatan Peninsula by selling T-shirts depicting exotic animals and plants.

The shirts cost $13.50 each (payment to accompany orders). Every 10 shirts sold save one acre.

Orders will be returned to the school before the December holidays. For more information, call 847-838-8334.

AUGS students 'pie' administrators

Antioch Upper Grade School defeated both Lake Villa Palumbi School and Grayslake Middle School in an attendance week challenge.

Though the exact date hasn't been set, students will get to "pie" an administrator from each of these schools at the AUGS all-school assembly in December. Nine home-room prizes were awarded to the top school percentages including three pizza parties.

1983 Classmates sought

Antioch Community High School class of 1983 is looking for classmates to organize and gather for the 20th class reunion.

A small committee is trying to get the word out by word-of-mouth and would appreciate any help it can get. Log on to www.classmates.com.

The reunion is scheduled for Aug. 9, 2003 at the Concorde Banquets in Kildeer, Ill.

Afterschool club moves

For the fall of 2002, Afterschool Club (ASC) will operate its kindergarten through sixth grade childcare program in the Lindenhurst Park Dist. Community Center.

Service will be provided to students in Antioch, Millburn and Lindenhurst. If the need exists, busing services may be provided to students in nearby schools.

For more information call 847-548-2445 or visit www.afterschoolclub.com.

NHS inducts 73 ACHS students

"There is a balance between right to privacy and discipline and order. School officials can search a locker at any time to keep order."

Police Chief Charles Watkins said, "We get real people in the police department. That survey didn't address selling drugs in school. There is no Constitutional issue. If a dog hits on a locker, it establishes probable cause."

Delany offered to set up a meeting between the chief, superintendent, a couple of police officers, a couple of members of the board of education and legal counsel for both sides to see what arrangements could be hashed out.

Of that meeting, Hockney said, "It's interesting when people get together and really talk about an issue. It was a productive, positive meeting that provided a good opportunity for people to understand one another and the legal issues involved."

It all adds up

Winter, and the less than ideal riding conditions that come with it, can make enjoying one's passion for motorcycling a challenge. As with all things, preparation is the key.

Christie Nielsen, of Nielsen Enterprises in Lake Villa, emphasizes safety. "Brightly colored clothing is important," she said. "Other motorists may be on the lookout for motorcyclists in the summer, but they aren't looking as closely for them in the winter."

Nielsen said there is a percentage of snowmobile equipment that will crossover for motorcycles, but cautions that some will not.

"Snowmobile gloves are warm, but they can be too thick for motorcycles. I've been riding since I was 4 years old, and I like to feel the bike right there," said Nielsen, as she mimicked holding onto the handlebars.

Nielsen recommended gloves that are both wind- and waterproof and that either have removable liners or can have liners added to them.

Ride into winter

Motorcycling fun exists even when the weather makes for less than ideal riding conditions

The Omniglove, made by Fox, is one such glove that fits the bill. "Fox is a motocross company that understands what it is to ride in comfort and safety," she said.

The glove is lightweight, waterproof, and thin. It has a removable and breathable liner that can be removed if the weather warms up over the course of the ride. Additionally, it has a mini scraper on the thumb to remove minor condensation or precipitation.

The recommended retail is under $50. Its downside is that it runs a little small and tops out at a size large.

The Monsoon glove by Olympia is another suitable option that runs around $40. It is a waterproof leather glove with a "Push-Pull" lining. Body moisture is "pushed" to the surface while Hydrofil nylon "pulls" it through the outside.

Though not known for its warmth, A DuPont Thermostat liner glove can be added without pushing the cost over $50. This material is also designed to move moisture away from the skin and dry quickly.

Another solution to keeping the cold out is to plug in to the battery. Harley-Davidson offers jacket and pant liners as well as gloves that use the bike's battery to power evenly distributed heating elements.

The line ranges in price from $165-220. For an extra $100, a dual control thermostat is available that allows heat regulation on two separate garments independently.

For those worried about being connected to the battery, heated handgrips are available by a couple different companies, including Harley, with prices that range from $85-225. Those who are mechanically challenged will need to plan on spending some extra money for installation.

Winterizing the bike is also important.

Warren's Inc., located in Round Lake, offers a full line of services for American built motorcycles that includes finding and fixing parts for older bikes. Warren Heir, who's worked under his own shingle for 24 years, said, "I recommend a 5,000-mile tune up that includes changing all the fluids and gaskets. Additionally, I add a stabilizer to the gas."

He said it's not necessary to take the battery out of the bike if it is prevented from freezing. "If the bike is stored in say a poorly insulated, detached garage, it's wise to take the battery out," said Heir. "Battery tenders are an excellent idea, too. I prefer the ones that have an electronic chip that won't overcharge the battery."

Heir said many customers take advantage of the winter months to improve their bikes performance or otherwise customize their

The Christmas season begins with 'Deck the Hall'

For over 150 years, Old St. Patrick's Church has been home to the longest continuous celebration of Christmas in Chicago

Old St. Patrick's will bring the beautiful sights and sounds of Christmas to the public with the traditional holiday event, "Deck the Hall." The inspiring music will lift the spirits of all who attend and welcome each guest into this most joyous time of year—Christmas.

The ninth annual "Deck The Hall," will be held at Old St. Patrick's Church, 700 W. Adams in Chicago on Dec. 6 and 7, at 7:30 p.m. A cocktail reception will follow the holiday concert that features the Metropolitan Symphony Orchestra and the Old St. Patrick's Holiday Choir.

Tickets for the concert are $40 and tickets for the concert and post-performance reception are $60. Both can be purchased by calling 312-831-9355.

Tickets are also available for the "All I Want For Christmas" raffle. Some of these prizes include two pairs of round-trip airfare for two to Ireland on Aer Lingus and a two-night stay with deluxe accommodations at the Ashford Castle, round-trip airfare for two on ATA to the Caribbean, Mexico, Orlando and San Francisco, $500 gift certificate to Greg Helfer Jewelers, dinner certificates at some of Chicago's best restaurants and more. Raffle tickets can be purchased in front of Old St. Patrick's Church after the morning masses or by calling 312-831-9355. Tickets are $20 each or 6 for $100. Money raised at "Deck the Hall" supports the yearlong programming, including music and liturgies of Old St. Pat's. Sponsorship opportunities are also available. For more information, call Mary Hartman at 312-831-9355.

Old St. Patrick's Church, founded in 1846, is the oldest public building in the city of Chicago. Its mission is to extend hospitality to all who find the church on their path. The current church structure, located on the northwest corner of Adams and Des Plaines streets, was dedicated on Christmas Day, 1856. In 1964, the church became the first Chicago building officially designated a landmark by the Chicago City Council. In 1977, Old St. Patrick's was listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

For more information on Old St. Pat's, visit www.oldstpat.org.

Leon Redbone in concert at Woodstock Opera House

Leon Redbone, eclectic musician and the mysterious reclusive man behind the sunglasses and white Panama hat, will present two concerts at the Woodstock Opera House on Friday, Nov. 29 and Saturday, Nov. 30. Each show will begin at 8 p.m.

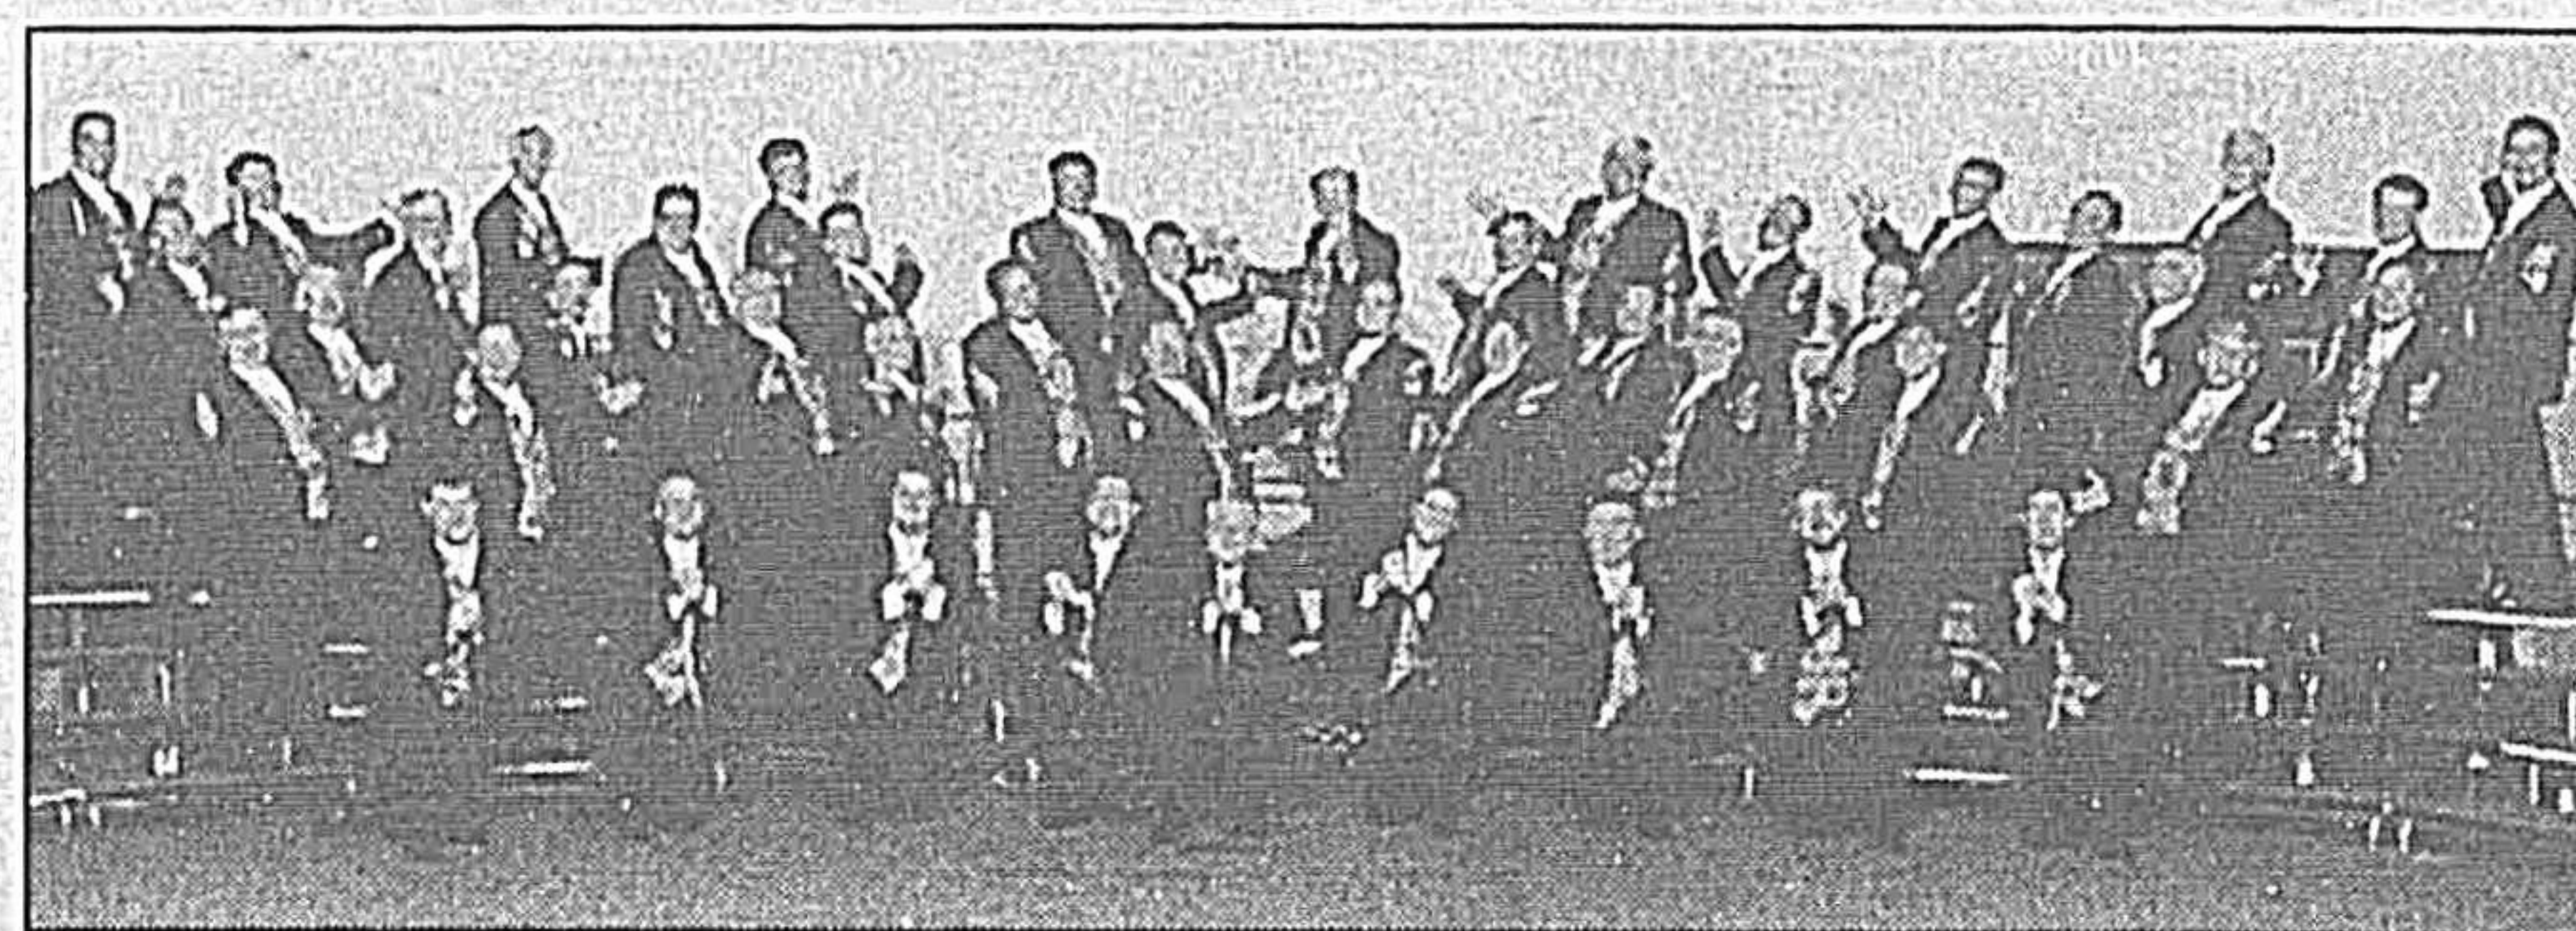

Redbone is a uniquely creative entertainer who restores, revives and revitalizes our musical heritage. He presents his interpretations of American music, from the turn-of-the-century through today. With reverence and respect, Redbone infuses new life into the material through his skill as a singer, guitarist and master of evocation. The new material that he performs is delivered with the same uncompromising treatment.

Leon Redbone has the rarest of voices. He has a pure smooth bass, which he can put through an amazing range of vocal acrobatics. He can growl and scat, falsetto, or mimic the sound of a trombone, and a Redbone yodel has a bluesy slide unlike any other vocalist.

Tickets for the Leon Redbone concerts are priced at $19 and are available at the Woodstock Opera House box office. For tickets or more information, call 815-338-5300.

Holiday harmony

The Great American Chorus presents "Sounds of the Season" on Dec. 7 at 2:30 and 7 p.m. at The Performing Arts Center Lake Forest Academy, 1500 W. Kennedy in Lake Forest. All seats are reserved. To purchase tickets, call 888-494-8705 or visit www.greatamericanchorus.org.

Cooking with Elvis

The recipe is as follows, take award-winning Chicago director Dale Gouling, add four exceptional actors, mix in a fabulous script, sprinkle liberally with filthy gags and beat together with the greatest hits of Elvis until it's all shook up. These are the ingredients for a deliciously wicked and hilarious new comedy by the writer of the smash hit film "Billy Elliot," Lee Hall.

Don't miss your chance to catch the King and some of his greatest hits in this superb and award winning comedy. This has everything that is great about live theater conveniently rolled into one show.

Set in the northeast of England and based around food, sex and a tortoise, Lee Hall presents us with witty dialogue and outrageous domestic chaos. Binge drinking Mam (Laura Millett), food-obsessed pubescent daughter (Thea Emily Nelson), wheelchair bound Elvis impersonator Dad (Ben Byer) and Stanley, the unassuming tortoise, lure the apparently innocent baker, Stuart (Sean B. O'Donnell) into their dysfunctional family home with dire consequences.

The West End comedy premieres in Chicago on Nov. 29 running through Jan. 11 at the Athenaeum Theatre, 2936 N. Southport in Chicago. Tickets are $10 on Thursday, $15 on Friday and Saturday. For tickets, call Ticketmaster at 312-902-1500.

Radio City Christmas Spectacular returns to the Rosemont Theatre

With dancing teddy bears, parading wooden soldiers and high-kicking Rockettes, the Radio City Christmas Spectacular is the nation's number one holiday show. Starring the Radio City Rockettes, it will run for its 6th and final season at the Rosemont Theatre, 5400 River Road, Rosemont, from Nov. 29-Dec. 29.

where showmen shimmy, reindeer fly, elves rap and the Rockettes perform their fancy footwork and eye-high kicks. Included in the show are classic scenes such as "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and "The Living Nativity."

Tickets range in price from $24.50 to $56.50, with limited VIP seating available. To order tickets, either call Ticketmaster at 312-559-1212 or log onto www.clearchannel.com.

Children of all ages will be enchanted by 90 minutes of live holiday entertainment

'Life's Not Fair' Powers cradle-to-grave reflections

Homespun philosophy, pithy commentary and nostalgic anecdotes all form the backbone of "Life's Not Fair ... So What," a new comedy written and performed by John Powers at a handsomely restored and newly reopened Chicago venue, Lakeshore Theater, 3175 N. Broadway.

A practiced storyteller, Powers has four best-selling novels under his belt and is known for the musical "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?"

"Life's Not Fair" unites the 56-year-old Powers with director William Pullinsi, who directed a successful three-and-a-half-year run of "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes" at the now-shuttered Candlelight Forum Theater.

This two-act comedy all takes place in the South Side home where Powers and his wife, now empty-nesters, raised two daughters. It's filled with autobiographical references, and Powers relates many memories as he lazily packs everything from books and photos to golf clubs and an old banjo ahead of his move to a condo. He talks a lot about his late parents and especially his deceased brother — all of whom have made a lasting impression.

He describes what it's like growing up in an Irish Catholic family with a mother who was a stickler for being on time. "I was never late ... always got a head start on accomplishing nothing," he noted.

The comedy's title comes from a bulletin board saying provided by platitude-spouting Sister Lee, a feared-yet-revered nun who taught Powers in grade school and who instilled the philosophy "if you're one of the dumb ones, work harder. Remember, the best hand doesn't necessarily win."

John Powers stars in the one-man show "Life's Not Fair ... So What" at the new Lakeshore Theater in Chicago.

As the evening progresses, we learn about the mental instability of his mother, the inspirational qualities of his wife and the abundant excitement for life his children enjoyed.

Few can argue with Powers' time-worn observation, "Life's a roller coaster ride: It takes a long time getting to the top, then whoosh and it's over."

To be fair, some may find Powers' patter overly sweet and sentimental, and his mostly derivative reflections can be a bit much. But there's enough to like in "Life's Not Fair," making it all worthwhile. It runs through Jan. 5, 2003, and ticket information is available at 773-472-3492.

SPECIAL EVENT

Holiday Housewalk tour benefits Infant Welfare Clinic

A house on Keystone Ave. in River Forest.

Share the holiday spirit at the 4th annual Holiday Housewalk Dec. 6 from 6-10 p.m. sponsored by the Circle 2 and 4 of the Oak Park/River Forest Infant Welfare Society. This year's tour will present six beautiful homes on Keystone Avenue in River Forest near the former Washington school site.

From stately Victorians to cozy homes with the latest amenities to beautiful brand new brick houses, all of the featured residences will be dressed in their holiday splendor. The Holiday Housewalk brings together a community of volunteers working together to raise money for the clinic, which provides medical and rental services to children whose families cannot afford the cost of private health care.

Tickets for the event are $25 in advance or $30 at the door. Tickets can be ordered by calling 312-701-8516, e-mailing HolidayHousewalk@yahoo.com, or by sending a check payable to OPRF Infant Welfare Society Circle 4 by Dec. 5 to Holiday Housewalk, 106 Ashland Ave., River Forest, IL 60305.

Proceeds from this event will be used to support the Clinic located at 320 Lake St. in Oak Park, which provides medical and dental care, diagnostic and counseling services to the area's needy children. For more information, call 312-701-8516.

BLOOD DRIVE

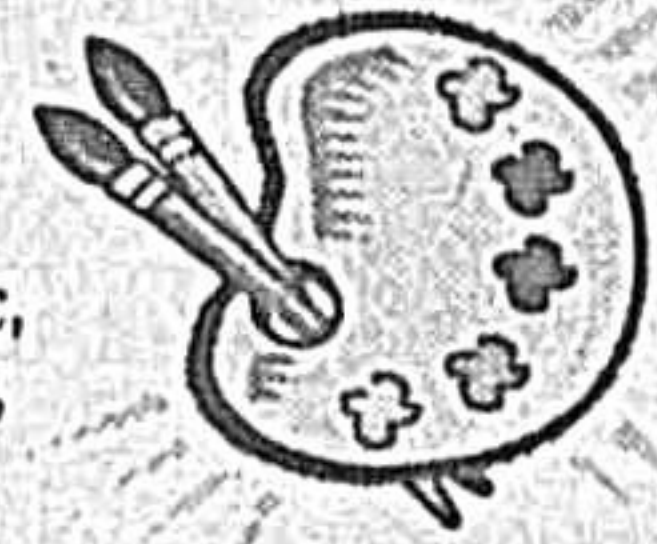

Gift of life

Members of the Lake County community are invited to give the gift of life during the holiday season by donating blood on Dec. 3 at the College of Lake County. The blood drive will be conducted on a walk-in basis from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Brandel Court on the Grayslake Campus. The event is being sponsored by the American Red Cross in cooperation with the CLC health center. Donors must be at least 17 years old, weigh a minimum of 110 pounds, be in good health and not have donated blood within 56 days. Donors will receive a mini-physical that includes a blood pressure check and iron-level count. Donors are advised to eat a good meal before donating. For information, call the health center at 847-543-2064.

Dancer North's 'magic' in the making

Libertyville girl, Carmel freshman chosen for leads

As the days grow shorter and cooler, thoughts naturally turn to preparations for the approaching winter holidays and for Dancer North in Libertyville, that means preparing for the 14th annual presentation of

"The Magic of the Nutcracker."

The acclaimed ballet production has become a Lake County holiday tradition. After rehearsing for months at Dancer North, the production moves to Libertyville High School's Butler Auditorium, where approximately 5,000 people attending the six performances will see the beautiful ballet come to life. According to many, the Dancer North production rivals those that can be seen in Chicago—only it's much closer to home.

"It's a vibrant production with so much energy and so much heart, and we have it right here in Libertyville," said Cheri Lindel, Dancer North director and choreographer. "People are constantly surprised. Each year there's something new and different, so even people who attend every year are seeing something fresh."

Dancing the coveted lead role of "Clara" in this year's production is Libertyville resident Allison Hudson, an eighth grade student at Highland Middle School. The role of the "Nutcracker" is being danced by Carmel High School freshman James Kopecky, of Lake Villa. The two will join an esteemed group of professional performers including Joe Caruana, formerly with Pacific Northwest Ballet and soloist in various dance companies who is now with River North Dance Company; Jon Lehrer, Associate Director of Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Chicago (GGJDC); Elijah Gibson and Meghan Grantin, both dancers with GGJDC; and Altin Naska, Ballet Master and dancer with Melissa Thodos and Dancers.

Additional Lake County dancers participating include: Emily Malkowski of Vernon Hills, dancing the role of "The Sugar Plum Fairy." This sophomore from Mundelein, has been involved in this production for seven years. Malkowski has also studied at the city Ballet of San Diego's summer workshop.

Renee Olson of Grayslake, will be dancing the role of "American Beauty Rose." Olson is a sophomore at Grayslake High School and has been dancing at Dancer North since she was 11 years old. This is her fourth season with the production.

Rounding out the production is a cast of more than 150 singers, dancers, actors and gymnasts from around Lake County.

Tickets are on sale now. Performances are on Saturdays, Dec. 7 and 14 at 3 p.m., and Sundays, Dec. 8 and 15 at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m. Ticket prices range from $10-$25, with discounts available for groups with an official status, such as scout troops or church groups.

Call 847-367-7970 for more information.

Chris Kelvin (George Clooney) has a shocking reunion with his beloved wife Rhea (Natascha McElhone).

A compelling love story, set against the steely grid of science fiction, "Solaris" features an ensemble cast of five characters. All possess a strong presence, as each is competing for sanity in the situation. Fight or flight here is a stark reality, perhaps the only reality.

Chris Kelvin (Clooney), a psychologist, receives a transmitted message from a friend and colleague, Gibarian (Tukur), who is commander of the space station Prometheus, orbiting the planet Solaris. He is in obvious distress and implores Kelvin to come and investigate the unexplainable events occurring on board. Gibarian has committed suicide by the time Kelvin arrives. The remaining crew consists of Snow (Davies), a talented young scientist, who exhibits a kinetic energy, while lacking the ability to string together a few words to make a complete, intelligible sentence. Gordon (Davis) is a physicist and tough realist, who refuses to let anyone into her quarters. Kelvin questions her about what's going on, and as she closes her door against him, she promises they'll talk when it starts happening to him.

It doesn't take long. Kelvin awakens to find his long-dead wife, Rhea (McElhone), in bed with him and looking very much alive. But is it really Rhea? Is she alive on this plane of existence? Or is the sixth character in play here? Solaris, the planet itself, is a pulsating presence, which seems an almost pure energy form. Glimpsed occasionally through a window, its atmosphere is seen as beautiful and wondrous. An energy field surrounds it and thus the space station. It draws you into a state of at least confusion and at most insanity.

These invasive "visitors" appear to each crewmember and must be destroyed and Prometheus returned to earth, according to Gordon. And she has devised a way to eliminate them. Presumably, she has blown her apparition to kingdom come and proposes to do the same with the others. But on the off-chance these are real beings, are you blowing a second chance to perhaps do it better? So the dilemma.

A science fiction film without special effects, we instead have the elements of time and space on a continuum overlapping, telling a great story. There is a deliberate claustrophobic feel to the space station. A sense of isolation is imperative. Interiors are important, both the sets and the characters' emotions. Each character has an arc and there is satisfaction in determining which you feel develops most.

The filmmakers were intrigued with both the novel and the 1972 Russian film of "Solaris," precisely because there is room for interpretation. James Cameron, producer here, and writer and director of "Titanic," allows, "This film takes you to the farthest reaches of the universe, and what you find there is yourself." In this regard it reminds us of "2001: A Space Odyssey." "The theme of predestination is crucial," says writer/director Steven Soderbergh ("Traffic," "Erin Brockovich"). The notion of redemption appealed to him as well. And one character says in the film "There are no answers, only choices."

This animated, and loosely adapted, version of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island," starts as a wonderful adventure but eventually leaves viewers in a quandary. Jim Hawkins (Gordon-Levitt), a teenager who enjoys speed on his unique form of transport, has loved tales of adventurous hidden-treasure hunts since he was a young boy. Now a restless teen, Jim has been brought home by authorities more than once. His single mother is worried about him. He helps her run a diner, in space, for traveling ships. Not spaceships, but ships in space with masts and sails, and bows and sterns.

One night, a pirate (with not much swash left in his buckle) visits the inn and leaves a golden sphere, which gyrates into a map leading the way to the legendary Treasure Planet, where the "loot of a thousand worlds" is hidden. With the help of an old family friend, Dr. Doppler (Pierce), Jim secures a ship, the R.L.S. Legacy (for Robert Louis Stevenson) to make the journey. The motley crew is headed by the no-nonsense Captain Amelia (Thompson). John Silver (Brian Murray), the ship's cook, takes Jim under his wing. And that's not the only thing he wants to take Jim for. It appears Silver and his cronies of marine-life misfit meanies are out to get that map.

We have no quarrel with the lively storytelling or vibrant color palette splashed across the screen. Our question is where in time and space are we? We feel rudderless. It seems in an attempt to be cutting edge contemporary, yet tell a timeless tale, Disney has muddled the water and scuttled the spaceship at the same time. Why not simply set the story in the "near future" with all the attendant cyborgs and space transports?

In an attempt to perhaps be incredibly imaginative, the filmmakers have instead produced an unimaginative piece. Unfortunately, since directors Clements and Musker brought us "The Little Mermaid" and "Aladdin." There's nothing to recommend "Treasure Planet" to anyone over the age of 5. And that's a shame, given its source material, which is very thinly scratched. It would be wonderful to glean a new interpretation of the telling of a classic tale.

Hustle up the Hancock

The American Lung Association of Metropolitan Chicago (ALAMC) and The Hancock Observatory lead you to higher heights with the 6th annual Hustle Up the Hancock...The Marathon of Stair Climbs. Instead of sweating it out in a gym, on Feb. 23, 2003, climbers can test their endurance and climb the 94 floors of the Hancock Observatory. If not quite ready for the 94-floor climb, Hustle Up the Hancock offers a 42-floor race as well. Once at the top, climbers will be rewarded with refreshments, a T-shirt and an 80-mile view across four states. Registration is $30 per person for the 94-floor climb with a $35 minimum pledge and $25 for the 42-floor climb with a $25 minimum pledge. To reserve a space, register online at www.lungchicago.org.

ART

Recycling

The ArtWorks Children's Museum in Ingleside is proud to announce a new exhibit courtesy of the Educycle Center. The exhibit shows how the recycling plant separates the incoming materials with magnets and Eddy Currents. The exhibit is now on loan to the Grayslake library and is set up in their children's section. ArtWorks is open to the public Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Admission is $5 per child and adults are free. For more information or directions, call Sharon White at 847-587-7882.

MUSIC

Holiday cheer

The Barrington Lyric Opera ushers in the holiday in the gracious Bellarmine Jesuit Retreat House, 175 W. County Line Rd. in Barrington Hills, at 2:30 p.m., Dec. 8. Following the program, light refreshments will be offered. Admission is $20 per person. Send check payable to BCLOC by Dec. 2 to Susanne Wells, 225 Timber Ridge, Barrington, IL 60010. Your check is your reservation. For more information, call George Obermaier at 847-985-0837 or visit the web site at www.lyricopera.org.

Lyric Opera excursion

Limited tickets are available for the College of Lake County's excursion to the Lyric Opera to see "Die Walkure" on Dec. 6. A bus will leave at 4:15 p.m. from CLC's Southlake Educational Center in Vernon Hills and return at 11:30 p.m. The opera will begin at 6:30 p.m. and is expected to be long. Participants are advised to eat prior to the bus ride or bring lunch. A light snack will be served on the return trip. The cost is $89 per person. For more information, call 847-543-6503.

Have an 'American Pie' holiday with Don McLean

Singer, songwriter, guitarist and famous troubadour Don McLean returns to the Hemmens Cultural Center in Elgin on Saturday, Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. with a heart warming concert, Don McLean's American Apple Pie Holiday Show. Joined by his musicians, McLean will transport the audience with his hit songs and his sensitive, yet spirited, interpretation of holiday favorites. He first gained fame for "American Pie" and then continued his international acclaim with such songs as "Vincent (Starry, Starry Night)," "And I Love You So," "Castles in the Air" and "Crying."

In 2001, the Recording Industry Assoc. of America and the National Endowment of the Arts compiled a Songs of the Century List. The top five songs on the list were "Over the Rainbow," "White Christmas," "This Land is Your Land," "Respect" and "American Pie."

One of the most unusual events in music history occurred when Roberta Flack's number one hit, "Killing Me Softly With His Song," written about McLean after one of his writers saw him perform, won the Grammy as Record of the Year, ironically beating out Perry Como's version of "And I Love You So," a McLean composition.

This ability to enchant an audience with his warm and personal stage presence is a well-known characteristic of his. The audience on Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. will experience that intimate performing style as his show brings joy of the season to the audience.

Tickets for the concert are $32 (main floor) and $30 (balcony.) Call the Hemmens' 24-Hour Charge-It Line at 847-931-5900 or purchase tickets at the center, Monday through Friday 10 a.m.-4 p.m. and Saturday from 12-4 p.m.

bikes. "This covers a wide gamut of things," he said. "I put a lot of cams in and change the exhaust and carburetors as well as porting heads."

Heir explained that porting heads is opening them up so they breathe better. "It takes more air and fuel to make a bike run up to its full potential," he said. "There's lots of horsepower hiding in those heads once someone knows what they are doing."

As an added benefit, Heir offers free pick-up and delivery (within an area of his discretion) from late October through the end of January. Additionally, he discounts the cost of his labor during that time period from 5-20 percent depending on the size of the job.

As with Warren's, Midwest Choppers Inc., located in Antioch, offers services for American-made bikes including engine work, customizing and chroming. Heated storage is available there with access available on 24-hour notice.

Known previously as Boone's Cycle Service, Dan "Boone" Kearns opened under the new name and is riding on the resurgence of popularity of chopper-style motorcycles.

"We have a manufacturers license and can build bikes from the ground up," said Kearns. "A lot of riders want something that is truly unique and building one from scratch is the way to go. Choppers are coming back in a big way."

Kearns said most have an idea of what they would like to have, and he can guide them through the process, show them options and help them decide what will work best for them. A bike planned in the winter months may well be ready to ride for next year's peak season.

The new choppers are reputed to be extremely comfortable and easy to control. "This isn't like the '60s," said Kearns. "Today, everything is scientifically figured out. We don't just throw a big front end on whatever bike is sitting around like the old days."

Kearns said it really doesn't take too long to build a bike from scratch, though indicated it can be expensive depending on the specifications of the motorcycle.

"Adding chrome adds a lot the look of a bike," he said. "Getting parts chromed is a good winter project because it takes a couple of weeks for turn-around. It's a complicated process. There's a copper coat and nickel coat and a lot of polishing involved. The bike has to come apart."

Not all customizing takes that long, and can be as simple as replacing stock mirrors or foot pegs with "after market" parts. Shops like Warren's and Midwest Chopper have catalogs with thousands of pages of parts and equipment and both are willing to let customers browse and make special orders.

Shore Harley-Davidson, now located in Libertyville, have an ocean's worth of Harley parts and accessories in stock. Additionally, H-D has its own five-pound catalog from which anything can be ordered.

"Many people don't think about truly customizing their seats or saddlebags," said Bob "Alligator Bob" Martin of Advanced Custom Design in Lake Villa.

Martin is known for his top-quality craftsmanship enhanced by exceptional quality leathers and a variety of exotics. "Almost all seats, whether stock or after market, are vinyl and not even leather at all," he said, adding that this is done to because the elements will ruin many leathers.

"I order all my hides from a Scotland Tannery that is over 100-years-old," he said. "They inject the leathers with wax and oils as part of the tanning process and this totally protects the leather. They just don't do that here."

He added that when the leather is dyed, it's done in a drum so the entire thickness is uniformly colored and not just the surface. "A scratched area does, of course, look different but it's not taking the color off."

Martin said the real benefits from getting a truly custom seat is that he pours the "pan" (the foundation of the seat) right on the bike so it is an exact fit to the bike, and that he can alter the construction to bring the sitting position either forward or backward depending on the height and size of the rider. Additionally, he uses Pro Pad, a viscoelastic dry polymer that will never harden, leak or crack.

"This material was developed in the medical field for people who are wheelchair bound so there are no pressure points and nothing gets numb," said Martin. "I can also just uncover a stock or after market seat and add this pad."

His web site, www.alligatorbob.com, is comprised of 150 pages showing samples of his work, hides and exotics. "The important thing to know is all of my seats and saddlebags are one of a kind. I have no inventory of any one design," he said.

Seafood salad a real Roman delight

Time always seems to evaporate during the busy holiday season. That's why we especially appreciated David Downie's quick and easy recipe for a seafood salad with shrimp, calamari, fennel and celery.

It's culled from his new book, "Cooking the Roman Way" (HarperCollins, 2002) which is a goldmine of authentic recipes from the home cooks and trattorias of the Eternal City. This salad draws from ingredients long associated with the Lazio (Latium) region located between the Apennines and the Tyrrhenian Sea.

COOKING by the BOOK

Downie also tells how to make other local classics from saltimbocca to zabaglione.

Insalata di Gamberetti e Calamaretti con Finocchio e Sedano

(Seafood Salad with Shrimp, Calamari, Fennel and Celery)

2 1/2 cups water	1 lb. fresh or frozen calamari rings
1/4 tsp. fresh or dried thyme	3 stalks celery
1 bay leaf	1 fennel bulb
2 Tbl. white wine vinegar	3 Tbl. freshly squeezed lemon juice
6 to 8 black peppercorns	4 Tbl. extra-virgin olive oil
1 lb. fresh or frozen shelled shrimp (about 1 1/3 lb. unshelled)	Fine salt and freshly ground black pepper

Pour 2 to 2 1/2 cups cold water into a medium-sized saucepan. Add the thyme, bay leaf, vinegar and peppercorns. Bring the water to a boil over high heat.

Drop the seafood into the boiling liquid, stirring with a wooden spoon. Bring the liquid back to a boil, lower the heat to medium and simmer for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Dice the celery and fennel bulb and combine them in a serving bowl. Dress them with the lemon juice, oil, salt and plenty of pepper.

Drain the seafood through a sieve or colander and let it cool to room temperature. Discard the bay leaf and peppercorns. Add the seafood to the bowl with the diced vegetables and toss thoroughly.

Let the salad sit for 15 minutes so the seafood can absorb the lemon juice and oil. Serve at room temperature or chilled. You can refrigerate this salad in a sealed container for up to 24 hours. (Serves six. Room temperature or chilled)

NEW RELEASES

These films are currently playing at local theaters. More reviews of these and other films can be found under Current Movie Reviews and Future Films at www.reel-moviecritic.com.

Opening This Week

Adam Sandler's Eight Crazy Nights: Adam Sandler's recent movie "Punch-Drunk Love" was as much for adults as this animated film is for kids. Sandler voices the three lead characters of Whitey, Davey and Eleanor. Davey is a 33-year old party animal who is in constant trouble with the law. The judge gives him one last chance to avoid jail if he performs community service as an assistant referee in a youth basketball league. He soon teams up with head referee Whitey, who although super optimistic and good-hearted, starts to wonder if jail may have been the better option.

This full-length animated feature touches topics of basketball, holiday spirits, ex-girlfriends and the mall.

Extreme Ops: For the fans of "XXX" and the IMAX film, "Ski to the Max," you'll get plenty of action and a plot that sounds like it makes some sense. While on assignment in the Austrian Alps, a film crew, sent there to capture the exploits of three extreme sports athletes, accidentally films a Serbian war criminal. The result is a series of jaw-dropping events, death-defying challenges, as they traverse the mountains by sky diving, white water rafting, jumping motorcycles and helicopters, not to mention hair raising feats of skiing and snowboarding.

Starring Rufus Sewell and Bridgette Wilson.

Still Playing

The Emperor's Club: Covers a three-decade relationship between schoolteacher Kevin Kline and a teenage student (Emile Hirsch) who has issues with his father. Has the general style of "Dead Poets Society."

Friday After Next: Ice Cube has a mini-franchise going with series regulars Mike Epps and John Witherspoon. He may become known as the West Coast Spike Lee as he continues to produce movies that make a tidy profit, while addressing slice of life perspectives of black America. The Ice Cube is on a hot roll.

Home of the Sparrow begins holiday gift program

Home of the Sparrow, a local transitional shelter program for homeless women and children, launches its annual Holiday Gift Program.

Founded in 1986, Home of the Sparrow provides housing and supportive services in Northern Illinois. It is a "tough love" approach that includes life skills training, job assessment, and parenting education. The agency works to break the cycle of homelessness by developing new methods. There are no short cuts to changing lives so dramatically. It takes the effort of a community. For more information, visit www.homeofthesparrow.com.

Gift cards and certificates are the heart of the holiday program, directly benefiting residents during the holiday season. The cards are also utilized throughout the year as individual situations arise. The holiday program eases Home of the Sparrow's budget, rewards hard work of residents, sustains programming and provides transportation. Home of the Sparrow can use gift cards or certificates from: food stores, gas stations/service stations, PACE bus and local department stores. They can be sent by certified mail to 5400 W. Elm St., McHenry, IL 60050. To drop off cards or certificates in person or if you have questions about the program, contact Sue Mazur at 815-344-5171, ext. 52.

Verizon launches free link to National Domestic Violence Hotline

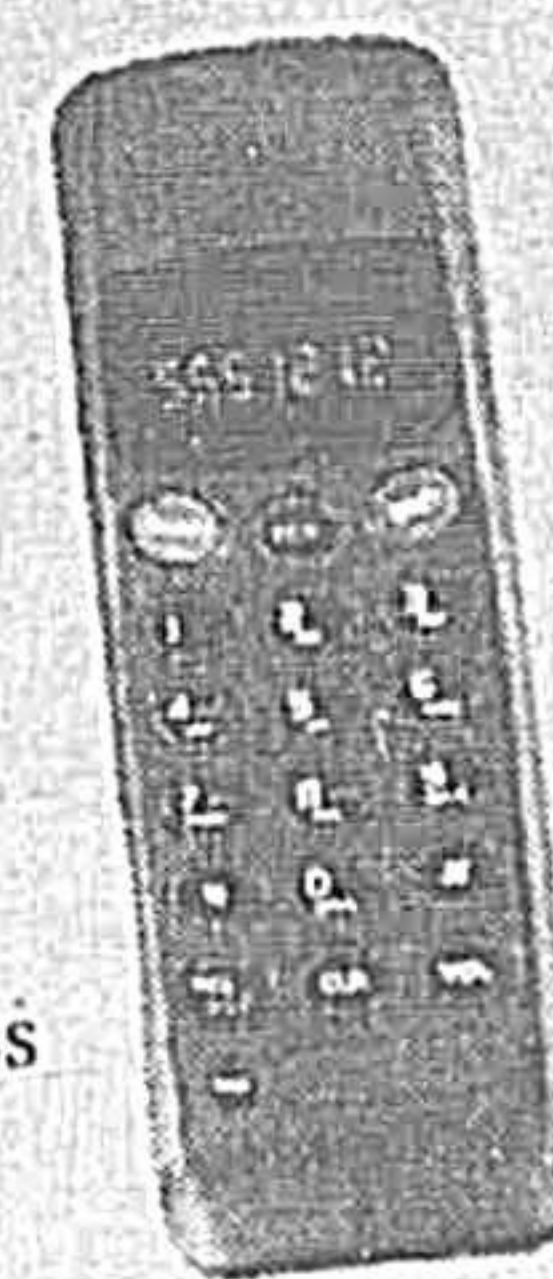

#HOPE offers a direct connection to help

Victims of domestic violence have a new resource from Verizon Wireless to help them get professional support quickly and confidentially. By dialing #HOPE from a Verizon Wireless phone, the victim will get an immediate connection to the National Domestic Violence Hotline (1-800-799-SAFE) and a step towards safety and independence.

The nationwide availability of #HOPE is the newest initiative in Verizon Wireless' long-standing commitment to domestic violence prevention through HopeLine. This multi-faceted program involves raising awareness and aiding in the prevention of domestic violence through monetary and product and service donations, education, events and partnerships with nonprofit organizations.

#HOPE is available across Verizon Wireless' nationwide wireless network. The call is toll- and airtime-free. The Hotline was established in February of 1996 to help end violence against women through crisis intervention and referrals to more than 4,500 family violence service providers nationwide. NDVH operates 24 hours a day, 365 days a year and can provide assistance to callers in both English and Spanish with access to translation in 139 languages.

For more information about Verizon Wireless' domestic violence awareness efforts or to find out how to donate phones, visit www.verizon-wireless.com/hopeline.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES - March 21/April 20

It may seem to others that you're the beneficiary of good luck, but you know that luck has nothing to do with it. Good deeds you've done in the past will come back to you this week.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Don't assume that others know how you feel, Taurus. Reach out to those you love while you still have the chance. A simple "I love you" may be all they need to hear.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

This week you'll have the confidence and the courage to do the right thing, Gemini. No matter what obstacles are placed in your path, with right and might on your side, how can you fail?

CANCER - June 22/July 22

Finally, Cancer, this is the week that you'll be able to get across to colleagues and loved ones what you've been trying to say these past few weeks. It should be refreshing not to be misunderstood.

LEO - July 23/August 23

No matter how self-confident you think you are, your faith in yourself will reach a new zenith this week, Leo. This is a powerful time for you — even the most minor self-doubts will disappear.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

It's up to you to make the most of the opportunities coming your way this week. You'll have to realize just how much is possible, and act on it — soon.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Wherever you go and whatever you do this week, just about everyone will be watching, so behave yourself. Rein in your impulse to go a little crazy, for there could be consequences.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Whether you're off climbing mountains or hacking your way through the corporate jungle, stamina is the name of the game this week. You'll achieve great things, Scorpio.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

You'll enjoy success and accomplishing something that will amaze even you, just by going your own way and doing your own thing. Working with others may cause you to lose focus — be a lone wolf.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Okay, Capricorn, stick to what you're good at this week and your name will be up in lights. This can be a great week on the work front, especially if you're looking to impress the higher-ups.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Now's the time to get serious about making a change in your life — perhaps a new career or a move. And if you haven't been thinking about change, then maybe you should.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

Your thoughts and deeds are yours alone this week, Pisces. Anyone who tries to restrict your freedom must be dealt with severely. Tell those busybodies to buzz off!

LOCAL DIGEST

Community Thanksgiving dinner

Blessed Trinity Food Pantry is sponsoring a free Thanksgiving Day dinner in the St. Peter School cafeteria on Nov. 28 from noon-2 p.m.

The dinner is for individuals and families in Antioch and Lake Villa townships who are either alone for the day, or not able to provide a traditional meal for the family.

Anyone wishing to join should call the social justice office at 847-395-0309 by Friday, Nov. 22.

Bank offers portraits

For 17 years and running, the First National Bank-Employee Owned has offered both its customers and community members the opportunity to have a free 10 inch by 13 inch family portrait taken.

Photos will be taken on Nov. 29-30 in Antioch, and on Nov. 29-30 at the Gurnee location. Weekday hours are from 3-8 p.m. and Saturday hours are from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Those interested in scheduling a sitting, or learning about the portrait promotion upgrade options, should call Kubin at 847-838-2265.

Seniors sponsor free trolley rides

The Antioch Senior Center is sponsoring a trolley to run on Saturdays beginning Nov. 30 every weekend through Dec. 21.

The free rides will be given from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. and will scoop the loop of Antioch's downtown area of Lake, Main and Toft streets. There is no ride limit.

St. Peter's supports singles

St. Peter Church has a support group, St. Peter's Singles, that supports the emotional needs of those separated, divorced or widowed. The group meets on the second Monday of the month in the church basement.

All ages and denominations are welcome to attend the meetings.

Enter the church on the east side, back entrance. For more information, call either Deacon Bob Gagnon at 847-395-3024 (e-mail at deacongag@yahoo.com) or Patti Vavrina at Church holiday cookie walks

The United Protestant Church of Grayslake will host its inaugural Cookie Walk on Dec. from 9 a.m. to noon. The Church is located at 54 S. Whitney Street in downtown Grayslake. The Cookie Walk will be a delicious stroll through a collection of hundreds of dozens of homemade holiday cookies, candies, fudge and other treats that are made and donated by members of the church.

A person starts with a box and a plastic glove, both provided, and chooses from thousands of cookies available, and pays for them, by the pound, at the end of their walk. People can mix and match or get all the same. The cost will be $6 per pound.

Wildwood Presbyterian Church, 33428 Sears Blvd., will hold a cookie walk Dec. 7, beginning at 9 a.m. Participants will be able to mix and match cookies and pay by the pound for their selections. The proceeds will go to benefit the preschool.

She's baaack

And the Lake County high school girl's gymnastics world thought she was gone.

Guess what?

Warren High's Ashley Alden is making a return to the prep gymnastics scene for this, her swan song before moving off to Iowa State University next fall.

As a freshman three years ago, the electrifying and silky-smooth Alden helped put Warren gymnastics on the map after the school brought back the sport following a 15-year or so absence.

Her sophomore year, she won the all-around title as Warren finished runner-up to Stevenson at the state meet.

Last year, Warren solidified its position as one of the best teams around by earning another top-5 finish at state.

Although not competing, Alden still wanted to show support by traveling with the team to most of their meets.

"I look back and I missed the camaraderie with the girls. We're all friends out there and really support each other," she said.

So what did Ms. Alden do during her away from competing on the prep scene? Just what every champion athlete does—keep competing against the highest levels.

"I competed for American Academy of Gymnastics (in Wheeling) in national clubs meets," she said. "It was a great chance to get some exposure and go up against some of the best competition in the country."

The exposure helped.

"It's a huge relief to know where I'm going to go to college next year," she said. "My main goals this year are to just have fun and help the team out as much as possible."

Alden competed in roughly three of the five or six scheduled meets for the Academy before spraining her ankle doing a flip-flop on the floor routine.

"I'm still not tumbling as hard as I usually do—the ankle is a little tender," she said.

Alden said she's going to stick with her regular routines in most events this season.

"There isn't much change in them—I just worked on the basics mostly. But I would ultimately like to try a new sequence on the bars," she said. "Especially with the release move, where I straddle into a front flip."

Front flip or not, fans are in for a treat when you see Alden perform.

For Lake Villa's Lawn, it's 'Chance of a lifetime'

By ROB BACKUS
Correspondent

It's the Super Bowl of triathlons, and Lake Villa resident Tom Lawn will be there.

After finishing third out of over 90 competitors in his age group (age 50-54) at a qualifying race in Madison, Wis., Lawn has qualified for the 2003 Ironman Triathlon in Kona, Hawaii.

"This is the ultimate triathlon," said Lawn. "It's an accomplishment just to complete one."

The Ironman Triathlon consists of three parts: a 2.4-mile swim, a 112-mile bike race and a 26.2-mile run (the equivalent of a marathon).

Lawn completed the swim in one hour, 12 minutes, his bike ride took five-and-a-half hours and his marathon took four hours, 25 minutes.

There are 14 qualifying races throughout the world, including four in North America. Approximately 1,800-2,000 people compete in each race, and between 80-100 people qualify for the finals in Hawaii. The field at Kona is limited to just 1,500 competitors.

"I knew I could finish, but I never thought I'd qualify for Hawaii," said Lawn.

"Qualifying to compete with the top 4-percent of Ironmen in the world is just a bonus."

Lake Villa resident Tom Lawn competes in the inaugural Ironman Wisconsin Triathlon held in Madison, Wis. By virtue of finishing third in his class, the 54-year-old Lawn has qualified for the 2003 World Championships, which will be held Oct. 18, 2003 in Kailua-Kona, Hawaii.

Corsair football; the ride's not over yet

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Good teams find a way to bounce back, especially after a heartbreaking defeat.

That happened to the Carmel varsity football team last weekend. Just a week earlier, the Corsairs, who were viewed by many as a candidate to win the Class 6A State title, were unexpectedly bounced by Mt. Carmel in the quarterfinals.

But football wasn't over as the Corsairs moved into the Catholic League title game against St. Rita.

There was understandably a quietness that surrounded Carmel Stadium on this Saturday afternoon. But the results were what Carmel fans, and players, have gotten accustomed to—a 40-7 thrashing over the Mustangs.

Carmel (12-1) now moves into the Prep Bowl against Chicago Public League champion Dunbar (10-4). Because Soldier Field is under renovation, the game will be played Nov. 29 at Hanson Stadium, located by the intersection of Central and Fullerton on the city's northwest side. Kick-off is slated for 1 p.m.

"It was a big downer last weekend (losing to Mt. Carmel). It took us until about mid-week to get back into the full swing of things," said Carmel head coach Andy Bitto. "But now we have a chance to win the Prep Bowl and solidify our place in the state."

Getting back into the swings of things—it looked as if these guys never departed. Just ask junior wide receiver Jack Simmons, who had a monster day in catching six balls for 142 yards.

"Sure, we'd rather be playing Rock Island today (who Carmel would have faced at home in the semifinals of the state playoffs)," said Simmons, whose 20-yard touchdown snare from Lakeland Player of the Year Mark Venegoni with 8:58 left in the first got things rolling.

"But to set the school record for wins in a season, not to mention winning the last home game for the seniors, it takes the edge off some of the pain. We have a lot of pride on this team."

Meanwhile, Venegoni was masterful in orchestrating scoring drives of 78, 68, 87, 33, 16 and 66 yards.

Venegoni himself snuck in from a yard out to give the Corsairs a 14-0 lead at intermission.

St. Rita (8-5) opened the third quarter with a nice sustained drive of 73 yards in seven plays, capped by a 1-yard scoring plunge by Paul Standing.

But Carmel answered.

Mike Serio caught a beautiful 15-yard toss from Venegoni to keep it a two-touchdown game, one of three scoring strikes from the junior quarterback. After Sean Walker recovered a fumble on Rita's ensuing drive, Serio's number was called again when he dashed in from 6 yards to put the game out of reach.

Chris Miller then caught a 15-yard strike from Venegoni. Lakeland Defensive Player of Lawn's training runs year-round as he competes in triathlons throughout the spring, summer and fall and he takes up competitive cross-country skiing in the winter.

To train for triathlons, Lawn normally swims five or six miles per week, bikes 200-250 miles per week and runs 20-30 miles per week.

"I love the preparing and the training," said Lawn. "The journey to get there is half the fun."

Lawn also has to stick to a high-protein, high carbohydrate diet prior and during each race.

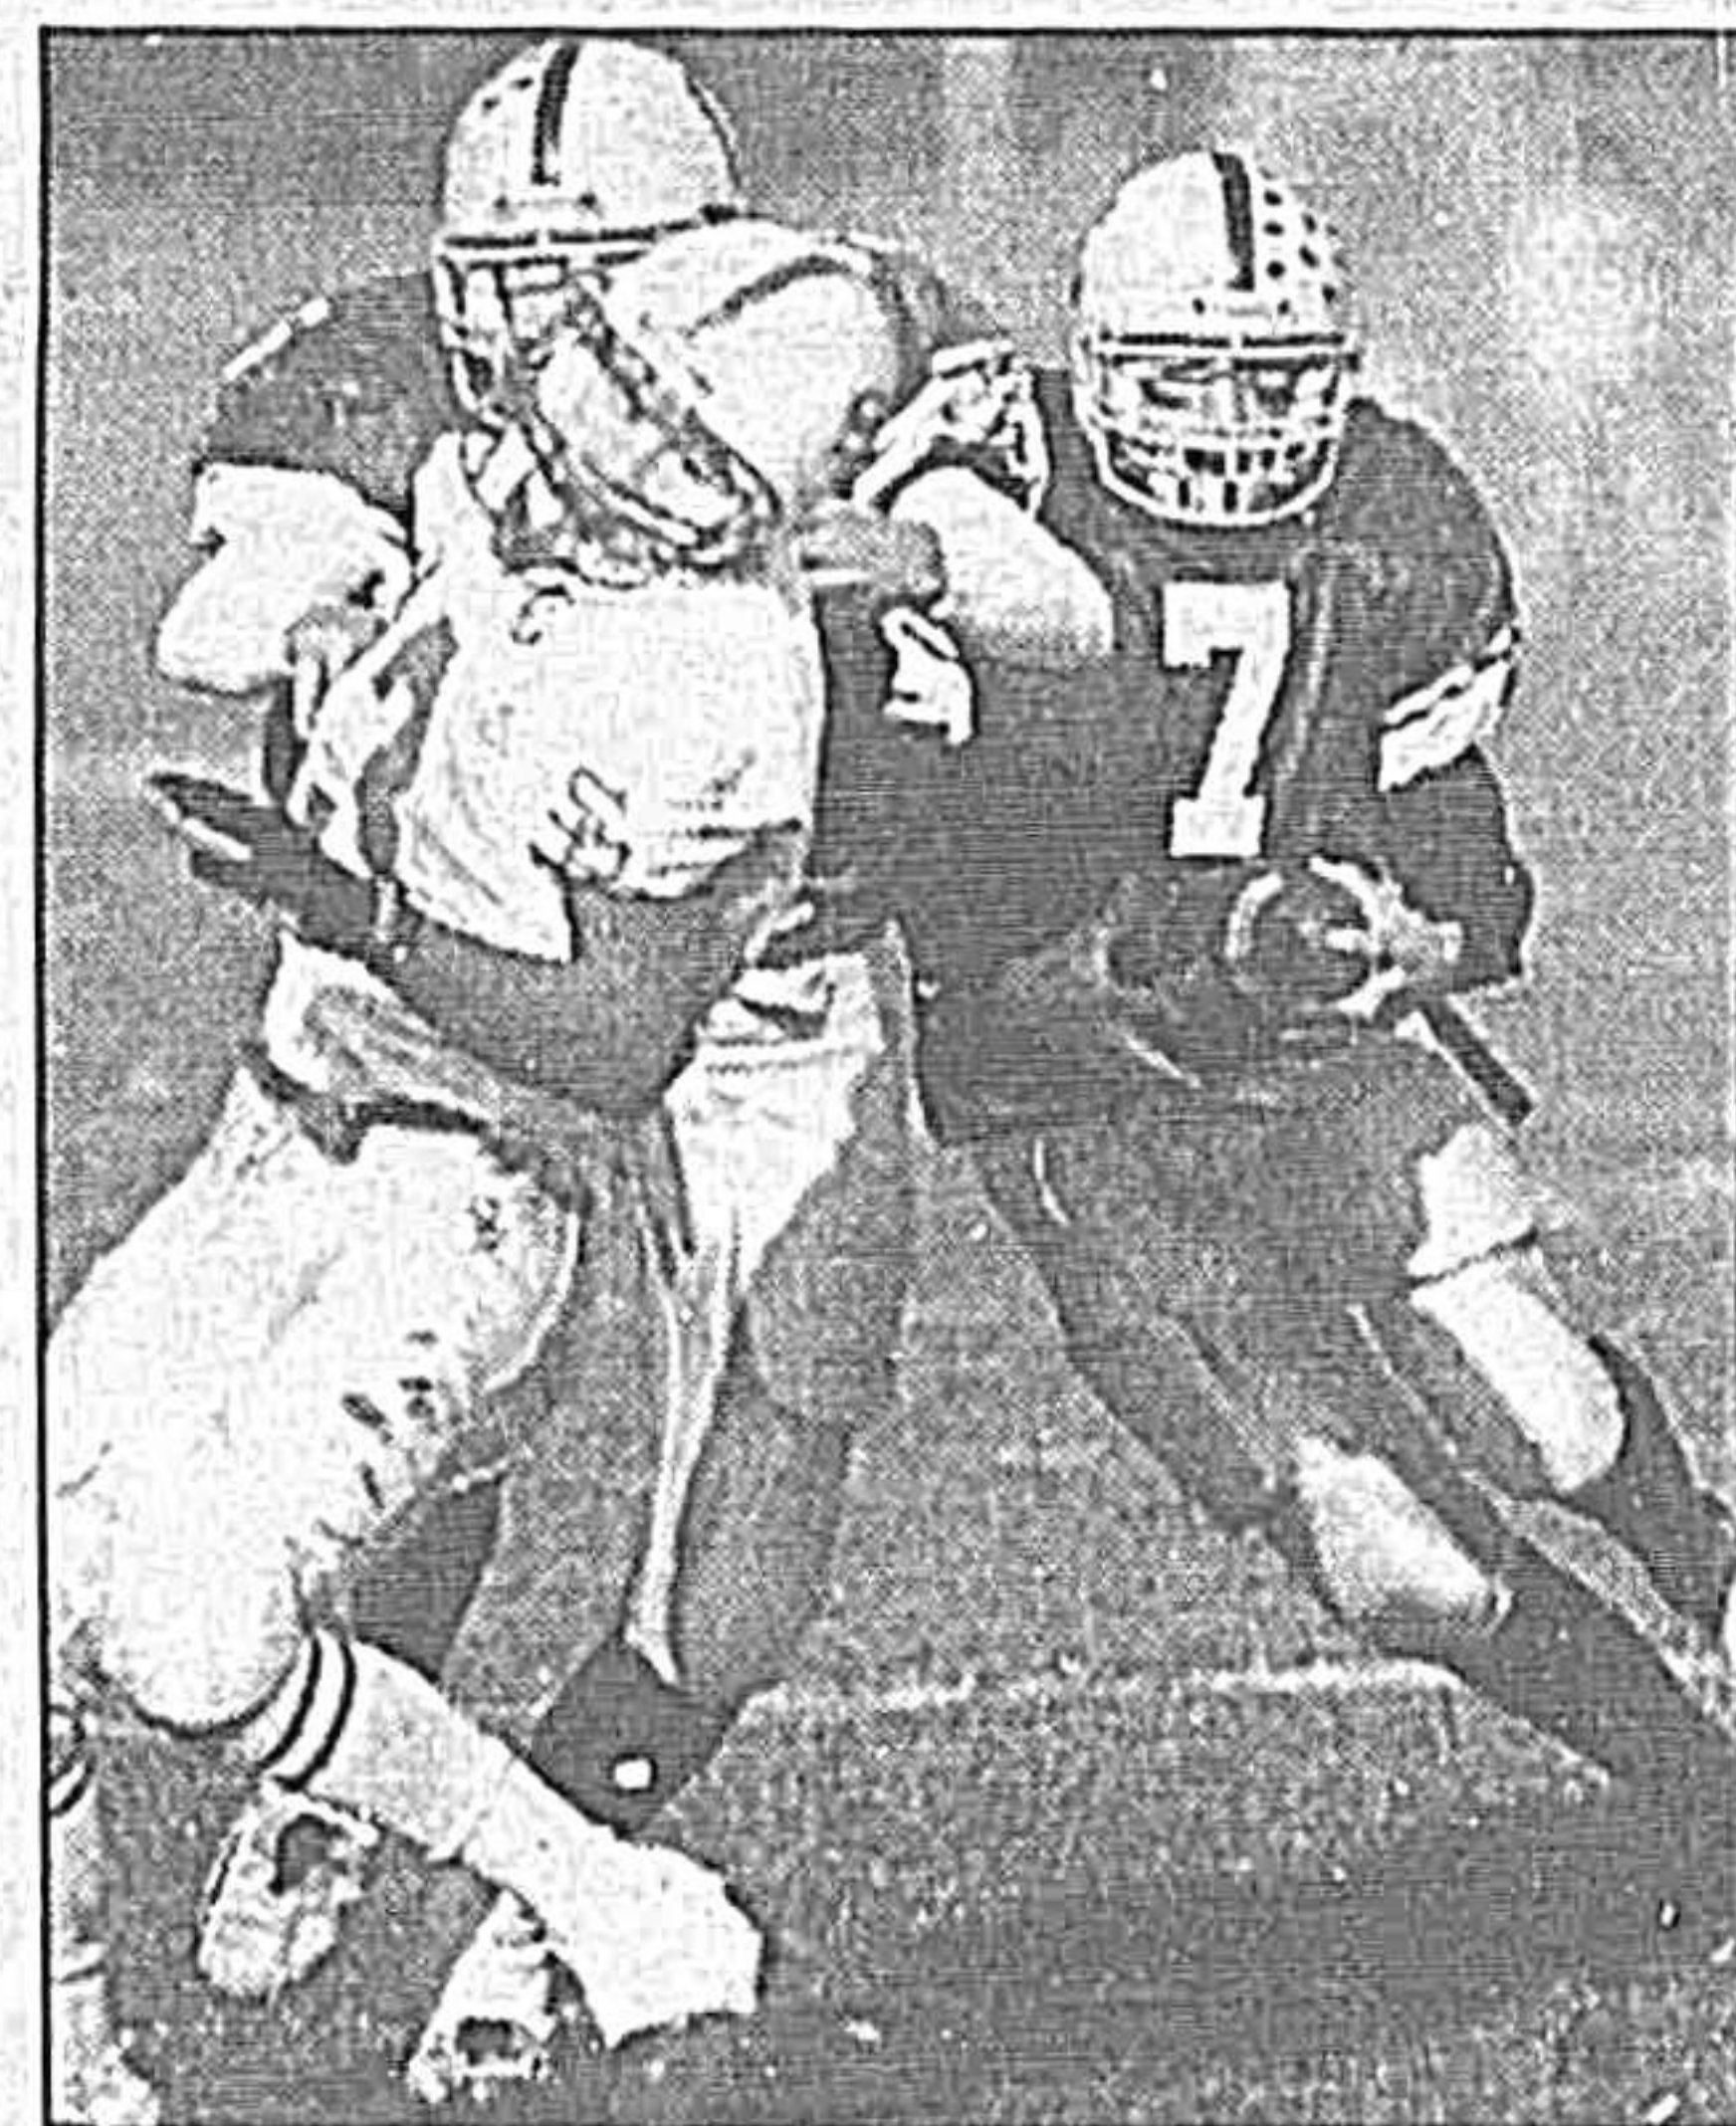

"During the Ironman race, you burn about 10-12,000 calories," said Lawn. "You have to take in about half that just to make it through the race."

Most importantly, Lawn has a strong support structure in place to help him train and compete.

"My son Chris and my wife Sue provide a lot of support and they also train with me," said Lawn. "And even though he wasn't competing, Chris walked across the finish line with me in Madison."

Lawn will continue his regimen over the next 11 months in preparation for the Ironman Competition in Kona, Hawaii on Oct. 10, 2003.

"It's quite an honor," said Lawn. "It's a once-in-a-lifetime thing."

the Year Nate Duprey added a fumble recovery soon after, which led to backup running back Roberto Martinez scampering in from 27 yards for icing on the cake.

"They (Rita) came back on us the first time we played them," said Bitto. "So it was important for us to get that fifth score."

On the day, Venegoni completed 12-of-19 passes for 219 yards and three scores. He also rushed for 55 yards and the one touchdown.

Komets win tourney title

The Kenosha Komets under-12 girls ice hockey team captured the title in the Thunder on Ice event over the weekend.

In opening round action, the Komets cruised past the Winter Club out of Milwaukee 4-1. Antioch Upper Grade School seventh-grader Amanda Houslander scored the hat trick for the winners. Laurie Simonds added the insurance goal.

In second-round play, Katie Eisenhauer recorded the shut out as the Komets posted a 6-0 victory. This time it was was Simonds scoring the hat trick. Jeanna Dudley, a sixth-grader at Antioch Upper Grade School, Courtney Mericier and Tanner Crisp all scored goals as well.

Then, in the title game, the Komets posted a 2-1 come-from-behind victory over Appleton (Wis.). Mericier wound up scoring the eventual game-winning goal. Houslander also got into the action, knocking one between the posts for the team's first score.

The Komets, which currently stand at 6-2 on the young season, will host Fond du Lac (Wis.) Sat., Nov. 30 at 2:45 p.m. The Komets play their home games at Kenosha County Ice Arena.

Hastings Lake swims past Irving in dual action

The Stingrays youth swimming team from Hastings Lake YMCA posted a 901-275 dual meet victory over Irving Park Iguanas. The Rays had champions in virtually every event. The team's next competition will be in the 'Gender Wars' Sun., Dec. 8 at Fenwick High School in Oak Park. First events are scheduled to start at 9 a.m.

School, village together on K-9 issue

Antioch—Representatives of Antioch Community High School District 117 came together with members of the Antioch Police Department, as well as legal counsel for both entities, to determine if and how random searches should be allowed at the high school by the police K-9 unit. Hockney said he hopes a resolution will be reached by the school board's next meeting on Dec. 12.

Mayor won't seek third term

Lindenhurst—Mayor Paul Baumunk announced he will not run in the April 2003 consolidated elections. He has held office since 1991, when he was endorsed by his predecessor, Robert Ratch. Baumunk, 57, intends to remain active in community affairs, but looks forward to extending his retirement, which began when he left teaching at the College of Lake County in 2001.

Fox Lake facade near completion

Fox Lake—Interest is apparently strong for the Village of Fox Lake's facade improvement program, officials believe. The board held a public hearing on the matter, prior to a formal vote at the Nov. 26 board meeting. The project has been under study since last February. A procedure for the applications has been set. "It will make the business area a lot more attractive when the village celebrates its 100th anniversary in 2007," said Bender.

MHS seeks first increase in 30 years

Mundelein—Mundelein High School District 120 will ask voters to increase its education fund rate for the first time since 1973. At the Nov. 19 board of education meeting, board members voted (4-2) to place a referendum on the April 1, 2003 ballot. The referendum will seek to increase the district's education fund rate from 37 cents to 44 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

2 arrested in Internet sex sting

Gurnee—A Lake County Sheriff's detective was in a chat room posing as a 15-year-old boy. The detective became engaged in a conversation with a man who asked the boy if he would like to meet for sexual relations. Earl Henry Williams, 53, of Plaquemine, La. was arrested at Gurnee Mills and charged with one count of indecent solicitation of a child and is currently held in county jail on $75,000 bond. The second arrest occurred two days later in a similar sting. Arrested was 27-year-old Daniel R. Porter of Elburn. Porter was also charged with one count of indecent solicitation of a child and is being held in lieu of a $40,000 bond.

Hooters to open

Vernon Hills—Hooters Restaurant expects to open in early spring in the former Pizzeria Uno's building in Vernon Hills. Several weeks of bickering between a handful of residents opposed to the notorious restaurant and cautious village officials, amounted to nothing but a delay of the inevitable. Hooters asked for a minimum of changes to be made to the former pizzeria, all approved.

Home tour comes to Grayslake

Grayslake—The Grayslake Junior Woman's Club is bringing the holidays home with its second annual Tradition of Homes tour. Funds raised this year will go to help the Public Action to Deliver Shelter, or PADS, Crisis Services Inc. The tour will feature six Grayslake residences and will take place Dec. 7, from noon-4 p.m.

Traffic signals coming to Round Lake

Round Lake—A dangerous intersection in the Village of Round Lake, Fairfield and Nippersink roads, should have stoplights installed before the end of the year. The estimated cost of the stoplight is $500,000 and the county will pay half with the village and Avon Township paying the rest.

Powers sees Route 120 bypass plan as a response to gridlock

By WILLIAM H. SCHROEDER

A newly elected member of the Lake County Board wants to rekindle interest in extending Route 120 as a four-lane highway as an answer to mid-county highway congestion.

"I see completing Route 120 as a 'win win' situation for everyone," exclaimed Robert "Bob" Powers, who was elected in a newly created district as the result of mandatory redistricting due to the 2000 census.

Powers, a Republican, will represent District 16, created to give more representation to the fast growing Round Lake area.

Expansion of Route 120 (Belvidere Road) was stalled at Wildwood east of Route 45 30 years ago. Plans of the Illinois Dept. of Transportation (IDOT) originally called for the four-lane road to bypass Grayslake and the Round Lake area, connecting with Route 12 south of Fox Lake.

Powers said the Route 120 bypass would eliminate the Grayslake bottleneck and provide a convenient, high-speed east-west access to north-south arterials.

Long range IDOT planning also provides for the extension of Route 53 northward to intersect with the Route 120 bypass.

The Route 53 extension has been the object of costly studies and hot political debate for nearly 10 years. Because of funding problems, highway engineers see the controversial extension as 10 or more years away from

Gun buy-back now in 2nd year

Gift certificates exchanged for firearms at 10 county locations

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

After last year's successful debut of the Lake County gun buy back program, Sheriff Gary Del Re announced the program would return this year on Dec. 7, from 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

During that time, unwanted firearms will be accepted at 10 police departments. Participants will receive a stuffed animal and a $50 gift certificate for each firearm, up to a maximum of $200 per person. Pellet and BB guns will be redeemed for stuffed animals. All firearms and accessories will be destroyed.

Last year, only five police departments participated in accepting weapons. This year, the number of drop-off points has doubled.

The locations are as follows:
Buffalo Grove Police Department, 46 Raupp Rd. (847-459-2560)

Grayslake Police Department, 33 S. Whitney St. (847-223-2341)

Gurnee Police Department, 4587 Grand Ave. (847-244-8640)

the approval stage. Design and construction work would be beyond that point.

Considerable right-of-way for the Route 120 bypass already has been purchased, especially in the area south of Round Lake.

What's intriguing about the bypass is that it's "possible to do and that it is an east-west response to regional gridlock," Powers pointed out.

"My interest is not so much being against Route 53 as it is providing an answer to gridlock that everyone can rally around," declared the new county representative who defeated four other candidates in the spring primary. He ran unopposed in the fall election.

Powers pointed out that only two candidates pointed to Route 53 as a logical solution to helping solve highway congestion and that one of them was defeated. "I see a definite shift taking place that will favor doing something about the Route 120 bypass."

Powers is a resident of Round Lake Beach who has been active in community affairs and Republican politics. He is employed as a computer systems manager by a Lake Forest supermarket.

homes will be visited by a police officer, who will complete the necessary paperwork, and return with the gift certificate and stuffed animal.

Last year, over 400 guns were collected, including everything from .22 caliber handguns and rifles to antique powder pistols to sawed-off shotguns.

In Waukegan, 89 weapons were collected. Mundelein collected 99, Round Lake Beach collected 77, Lake Forest collected 75 and Lake Zurich collected 68. In addition, about 25 pounds of ammunition was turned in.

Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re said, "The Primary purpose of this operation is not to discourage private ownership of firearms by law-abiding citizens, but rather to provide an avenue by which citizens may safely dispose of their unwanted firearms, ammunition and accessories."

The Sheriff's Office will be involved with the effort in cooperation with the Lake County Chiefs of Police Association, Lake County Crime Stoppers, Lake County Metropolitan Enforcement Group and other local law enforcement agencies.

LCTV wins three national awards

The 2002 National Association of Telecommunications Officers and Advisors (NATOA) Government Programming Awards ceremony took place in Chicago. Lake County Television (LCTV) received three awards in the 17th annual competition. At the awards ceremony, NATOA recognized excellence in broadcast, cable, multimedia and electronic programming developed by government agencies.

LCTV received a second place Creativity Award among jurisdictions that produce their own videos on a total annual operating production budget of $100,000 or less. The purpose of this award is to recognize agencies that produce highly creative programming with limited resources.

In the category of Overall Excellence in Government Programming (Operating Budget of $100,000 or less), LCTV was awarded third place. LCTV submitted a 15 minute tape consisting of excerpts from at least 10 different programs originally cablecast between June 2, 2001 and May 31, 2002.

LCTV also received the distinction of Honorable Mention for a news series for Lake County Edition. Lake County Edition is a news program that covers actions of the Lake County Board, local community news and highlights county services.

Treasurer tabs new location to pay back taxes

In response to the success of last year's program, Lake County treasurer Robert Skidmore will again set up a temporary collection site for county residents who have not yet paid their 2001 real estate taxes and prefer to pay in person.

The temporary collection site will be at LaSalle Bank, 515 E. Townline Road in Vernon Hills, located across from Hawthorn Mall on the south side of Route 60, in front of Wal-Mart.

In order to avoid anyone having more delinquent charges added to their taxes, Skidmore chose to set up the temporary collection site at a centralized location in order to serve the maximum number of residents.

According to Skidmore, "You have to remember that we have already collected and distributed 97.5 percent of the total 2001 taxes. We want to give those who have unpaid taxes every chance."

To make a payment at the temporary location residents must bring their final notice tax bill and a cashier's check in the amount indicated on the final notice made payable to "Lake County Collector". Personal checks will not be accepted. No exceptions will be made for individuals who do not have their final notice tax bill and a cashier's check.

The temporary tax collection location will be open to residents for four days only beginning Monday, Dec. 2. The last day to pay taxes at this location will be Dec. 5. The tax payment station will operate from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. for the four days it is in operation.

Property taxes can also be paid in person at the Lake County Treasurer's Office, 18 N. County Street, Waukegan. To avoid further delinquent charges, all payments must be made by 5 p.m. on Dec. 6. For more information, contact the treasurer's office at 847-377-2323.

County passes '03 budget

The Lake County Board passed a fiscal year 2003 operating budget of $360,302,401, a 3.6 percent increase over last year.

This year's budget process emphasized reviewing all expenditures to determine justification for funding, and budget officials recommended that some programs should be subject to funding cuts, while others received modest increases and most remained status quo.

"We carefully examined our expenditures to assure that this year's budget is conservative enough to meet our nation's and county's current economic conditions. While at the same time, we will continue to offer quality public services and maintain public safety," said Lake County Board Chairman Suzi Schmidt.

Although the board limited authorizing new programs in 2003, they did authorize several new or expanded programs based on an evaluation process that assigns points on the basis of the county's needs and merits of the proposed program. New budget requests also needed to identify a revenue stream, such as grant funding, service fees or some other funding source.

New programs include hiring an additional planner to improve the permit process and replacing technology equipment and programs to streamline processes. Additionally, the Coroner's and Public Defender's Offices will each add a new position to cover increasing caseloads in their respective offices. The Public Defender received a grant to fund the new position.

Board members also approved an increase in election judge pay and enhanced the compensation for jurors. Also, it approved a program to place stream gauges in the county's watersheds to monitor potential flooding.

Vote brings temporary peace

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Shoppers, villages and employees are all breathing a sigh of relief over the contract agreed upon to end the labor strife at Safeway Dominick's.

The clerks union ratified the contract settlement, retroactive to Nov. 10. It lasts until July 26.

"It is a very good contract. It keeps the benefits that we were united in fighting for, such as scheduling, health benefits, and the pensions," said S.J. Peters, the spokesman for the clerk's union. The union representing the grocery store chain's clerks, the United Food and Commercial Workers, had authorized a strike against the grocery store group.

"We demonstrated how unified the group of 8,900 people was when the last contract was rejected and a strike vote was authorized," Peters said.

The new agreement was ratified by 98 percent on Nov. 24 at six meetings held in Chicago, Rosemont and St. Charles.

"The negotiation process with Safeway has been challenged throughout. Without the trust, support and unity of the Dominick's members, we could not have arrived at what we consider to be a successful outcome," said Local 1546 President Kenneth R. Boyd in a prepared statement.

July is when an agreement with the meat and deli workers union expires. That could give any new buyer of the No. 2 chain, "very dedicated, loyal workers," Peters said.

The Wauconda Dominick's, has been at the same shopping center at Routes 12 and 176 since Sept., 1997. Another, the Fox Lake Dominick's is one of the newest stores of the 119 in the Chicagoland area. It was opened in April, under conditions of a sales tax agreement signed by a previous village board.

The settlement vote Nov. 24 marked the ends of weeks of posturing between the two sides as negotiations continued

Free the YMCA from the YMCA

The phrase "grass roots movement" has acquired a double meaning, as the newly formed Hastings Lake Community Coalition tries to rally support for its bid to purchase the Hastings Lake YMCA property from the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago.

The coalition, comprised of former members of the Hastings Lake YMCA board, submitted a letter of intent to the Chicago board, with a bid the association characterized as "substantially" below both the appraised value of $12 million and an unsolicited bid from another party.

Although the other bidder has not been identified, popular speculation is that it is a residential developer.

The coalition has found several banking institutions interested in providing loans for a portion of the purchase, assuming the Chicago association eventually accepts a bird in the hand, rather than waiting for the two in the bush.

Contingencies, such as annexation for water and sewer service and zoning restrictions, may delay any positive movement by a developer, or may even deter it permanently.

According to George Richter, spokesperson for the coalition, the group would need at least $2 million in private contributions to augment the amount institutional lenders are willing to offer.

The coalition is confident of the Hastings Lake YMCA's ability to maintain itself and the resultant debt service if the bid is accepted, but without private contributions, the effort is moot.

Geographically, Hastings Lake Y has the largest service area in Lake County. From its base located between Lindenhurst and Lake Villa, Hastings fans out in all directions. The service area includes the Antioch area, Fox Lake-Ingleside, Grandwood Park, Gages Lake-Wildwood, part of Gurnee and Grayslake, where a state-of-the-art fitness center operates as a branch.

In the past few weeks, many people have expressed dismay at the potential loss of after school programs, camping programs, an equestrian program and a swimming team. Many have recalled how they and their parents and their children all learned to swim at the 80-year-old camp.

There are two ways to raise $2 million: someone can step forward with a contribution of $2 million, or each of the families that care about the future of the Hastings Lake camps can contribute a fraction of that amount. The latter is more likely—and more attainable, if the community wills it.

We endorse the efforts of the coalition to save Hastings Lake as an independent YMCA. We also exhort the community to add purse strings to heartstrings.

Freedom, as the saying goes, isn't free. Now is the time to ante up to free the Hastings Lake YMCA from its corporate bonds, and make it in fact what it has always been in sentiment: a community YMCA.

Training center seen as prototype

An undertaking to build a new fire station is turning into a project to create a regional emergency training center that could become a model for preparing emergency workers to deal with terrorist attacks.

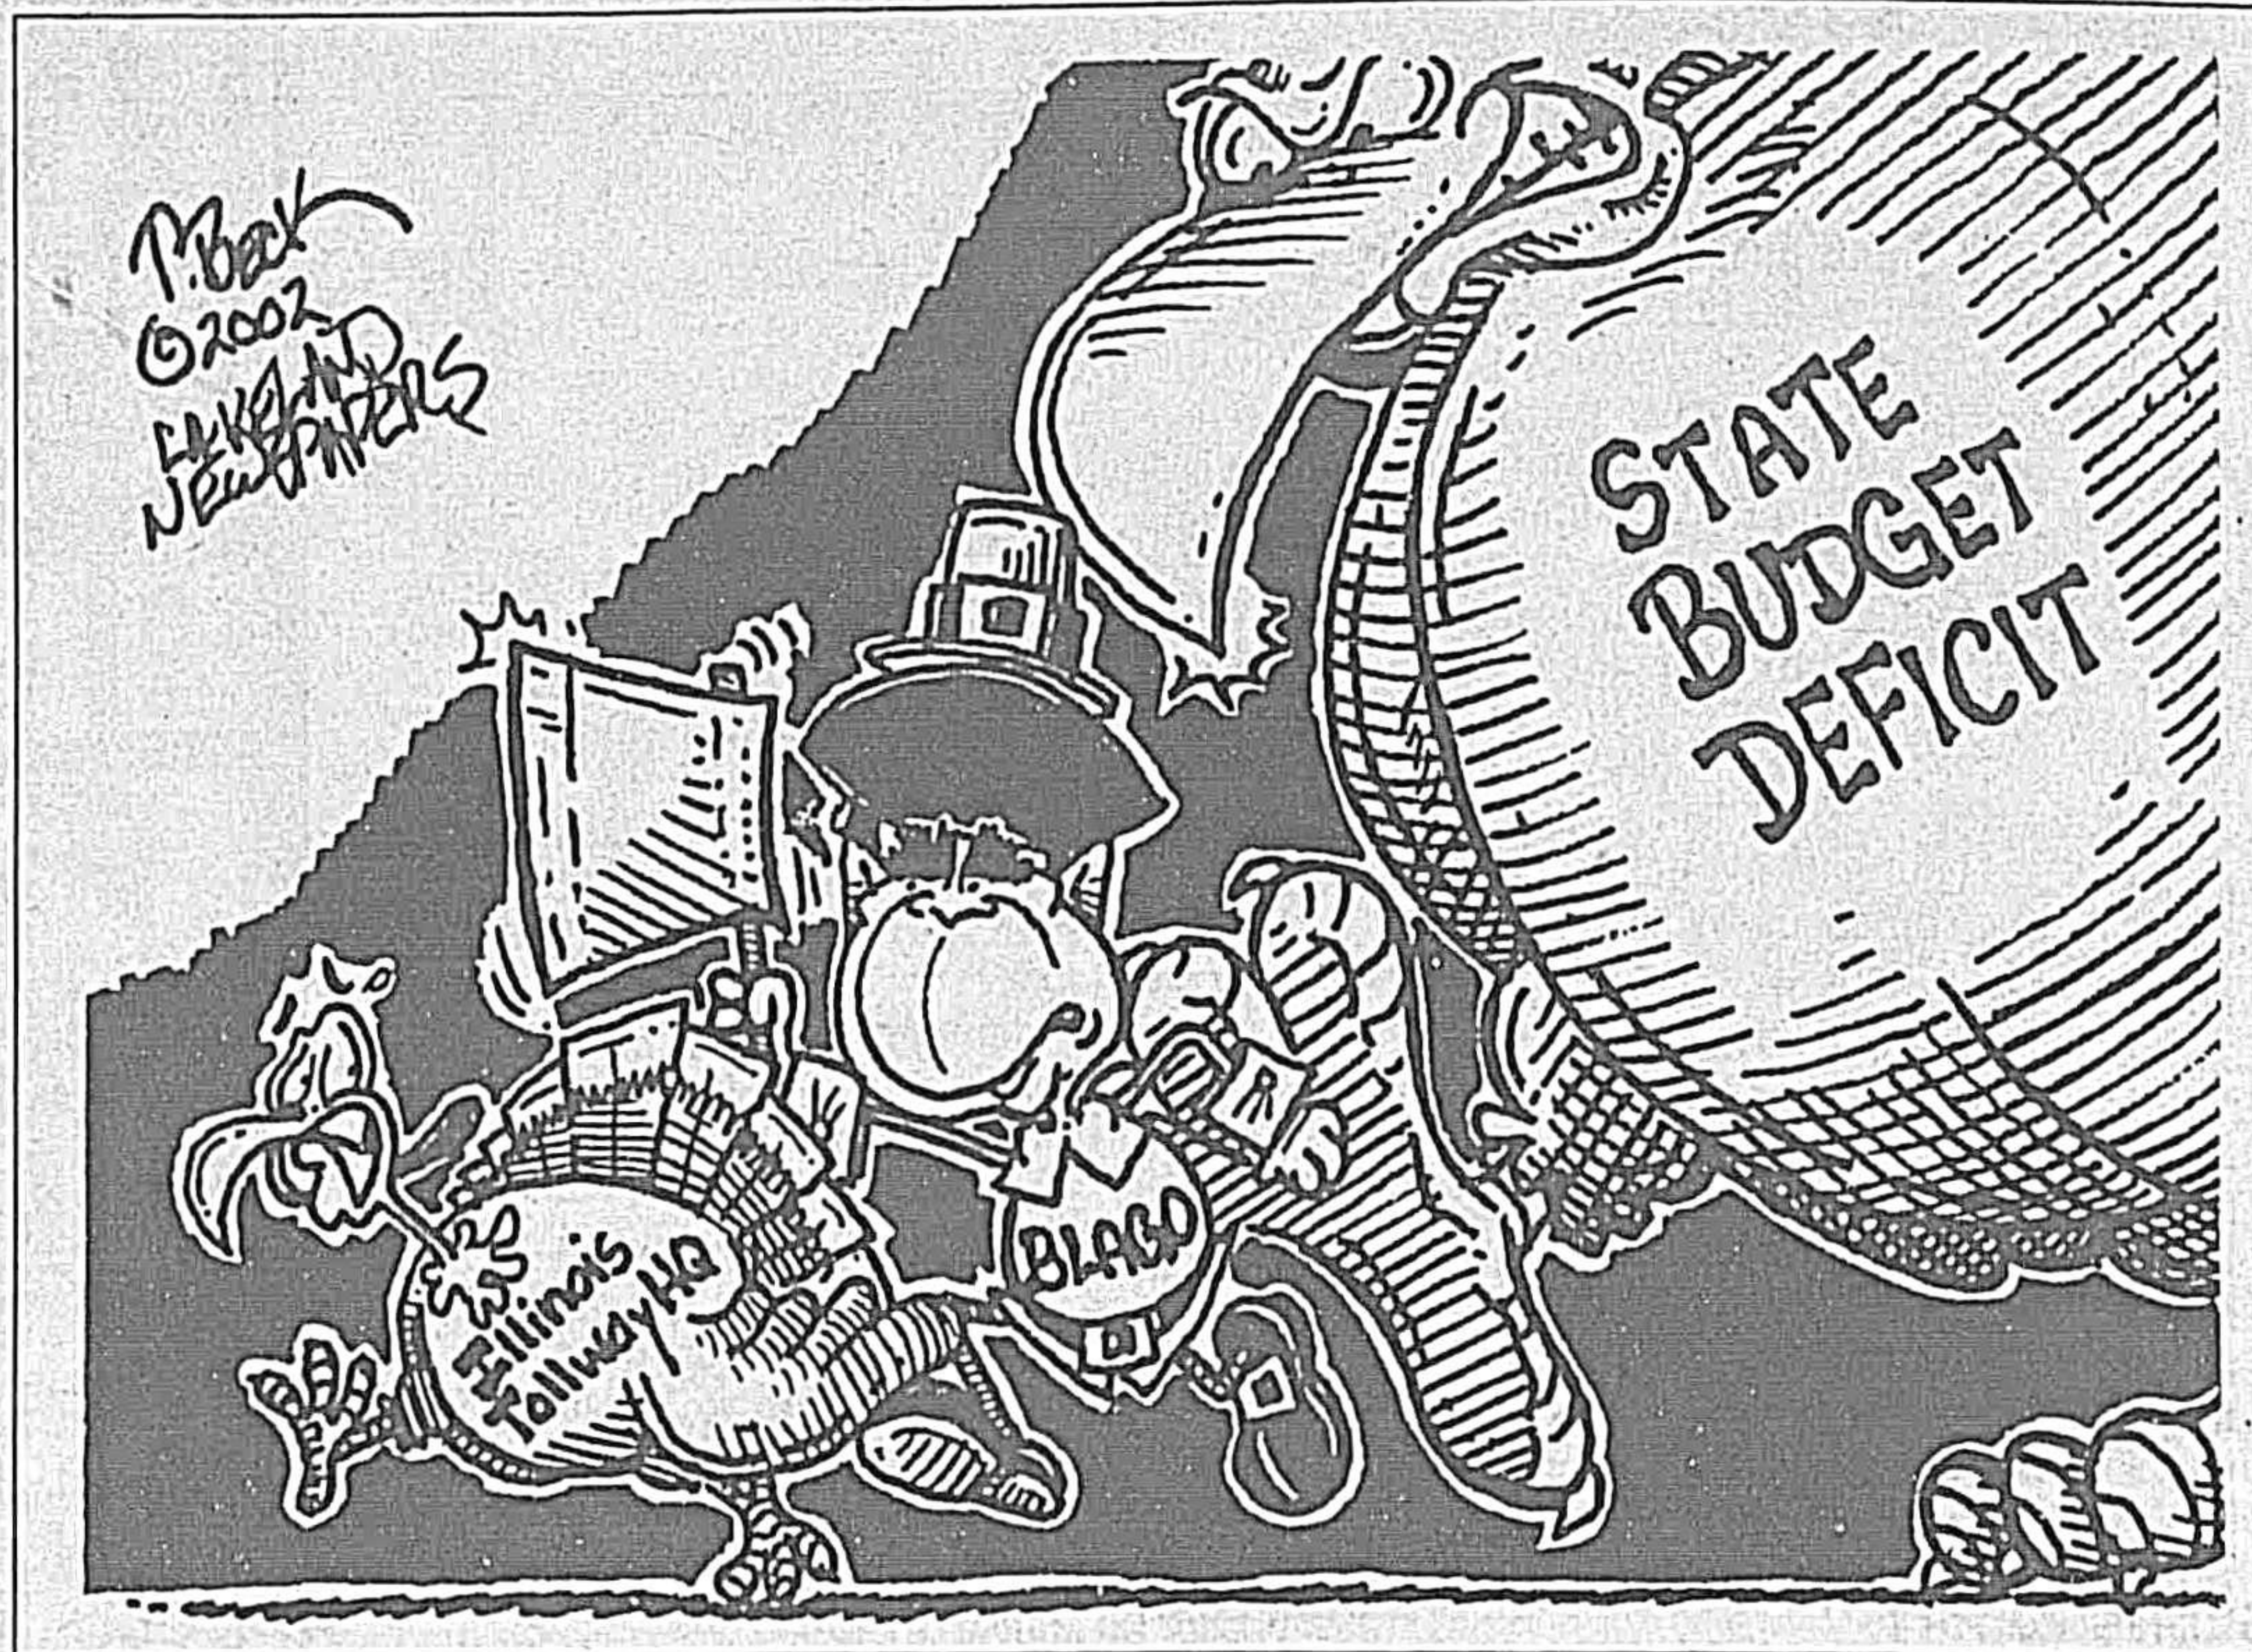

Spurred by mounting interest in homeland security, the expanded facility for the Wauconda Fire Dept. rapidly is being seen by fire and police officials as a training site and command center for responding to natural and man-made disasters.

The emergency training center would be established with the fire station already earmarked for construction with the purchase for $487,500 of 20 acres by the Wauconda Fire Dept. Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th) already is moving to include appropriations for federal funds for the opportunity to aid the war on terrorism.

Jim Schultz, director of the Lake County Emergency Management Agency, sees the center located at Volo filling the gap in specialized emergency training, particularly in the area of chemical and biological emergencies. The facility is envisioned to have a heliport, classrooms and a communications center besides room for traditional firefighting and rescue service.

An emergency training and staging center is a concept that is in its infancy. There are only a few other centers in the U.S. that resemble the plans for the west Lake County site.

The facility at Volo, envisioned to serve northeastern Illinois and southern Wisconsin, without doubt would become a prototype. Wauconda officials are to be commended for the foresight and the willingness to expand their new fire station into something that meets needs of a new age brought on by world-wide terrorism.

VIEWPOINT

Money alone not the answer

State Supt. of Education Robert E. Schiller makes a persuasive argument for spending more money on education. Considering the importance of public safety, though, he might be hitting below the belt when he compares the cost of operating prisons ($21,000 a year per adult, $50,000 per juvenile) to annual per pupil expenditures running from a low of $4,000 in Illinois to $17,000.

Still, the Illinois ranking on accepted national measurements is dismal—48th for funding provided by the state, 49th in revenue difference between the highest and lowest poverty districts, 34th in the local tax burden as a percent of personal income.

Schiller has loads of support when he states that current public school funding is too inadequate and inequitable to improve achievement levels.

Not so surprising, as a professional educator Schiller insists that more money is necessary to provide the children of Illinois with an adequate education. And even more money, Schiller has stated publicly, will be needed to help students from low income families catch up and keep pace.

What grates the nerves of hard-working taxpayers is the call for more school money when little or nothing is being done to institute changes and reforms that don't involve huge increases in education expenditures. Try these for size:

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Year-around operation, opening up teaching positions to non-certified yet qualified persons, expand the voucher system, enhance parental involvement, reduce administrative bureaucracy, extend impact fee requirements to unincorporated areas, empower classroom teachers, put the brakes on Tax Increment Financing (TIF) that rob the schools of tax revenue.

Private and parochial schools stretch their dollars in unbelievable ways by getting parents involved in education. Redirecting a culture where every social ill is dumped in the lap of the public schools won't be easy, but the savings of parents assuming their responsibilities would be enormous.

Schiller speaks of the crisis in educational funding. More of a crisis, it's a crime, a crime that there is so little effort put into using existing funds efficiently and creatively.

Recognizing staff

Dr. Robert A. McKanna, superintendent of Warren Township High School, deserves a pat on the back for recreating a community involvement project that will stretch education tax dollars. McKanna is inviting citizens and businesses to contribute gifts for a staff recognition program involving a random drawing every pay period during the school year. Certificates for merchandise or services can be submitted by calling 847-599-4444. Note: contributions are tax deductible.

One man's family

When grandchildren are present, new film showings can't be far behind. Erika and Ali got gram and gramp acquainted with "Spider Man." John and Nikki keep their grandparents up to date on Harry Potter's adventures. The Harry Potter films are marvelous, exciting enough to command the rapt attention of Tommy, the rambunctious two and a half year old. That's something.

Governor-elect Blagojevich— making first impressions

Governor-elect Rod Blagojevich will be sworn into office in early January. As the saying goes, first impressions are lasting impressions, so he will make every effort to "look good" from the start. That's not easy when he gets the keys to the statehouse to find the cupboard is bare to the tune of over $2 billion dollars.

Blagojevich's first move was to announce a transition team. He raised eyebrows and received generally favorable editorial reviews by appointing former governor Jim Thompson as co-chairman of the team. Whether many Democrats lauded the appointment is questionable. Will it mean a move toward good government by learning on the vast experience of the former governor? Or will it mean

IT THROUGH
John S. Matijevich

more Republicans might retain or receive some of the cushy state jobs? That would be in addition to the jobs that present Governor George Ryan has "locked in" for his "political loyalists." Democrats have often moaned "why is it that when Republicans win, they clean house but when Democrats win, they keep many Republicans under the fold?"

As much as I respect the former governor, I question the selection, but not from any political bias. Remember during the campaign, when I pointed in this column that Gov. Thompson showed up at one of Blagojevich's fundraisers, "with check in hand." Don't forget, Gov. Thompson is not just an ex-governor. He is a lobbyist, par excellence. The prestigious law firm which he heads has been involved in some major special interests.

Of course, Thompson said, just as when the president asks one to serve, when the governor calls, you say "yes, I accept." It made me wonder, would Blagojevich have considered former governor Jim Edgar as a co-chair, and if he had, would Edgar have accepted? No use speculating, Edgar never was considered as a "favorite of Chicago."

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Sheriff praised for outreach work

NICASA, dedicated to rehabilitative work and aiding substance abusers, applauded the leadership of Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re for helping prisoners return to society upon release.

Available at the Lake County jail are NICASA programs including DADS (Dads Are Doing Something), ACT (Aggression Control), FACT (Aggression control class for women), and Women United (a parenting class). NICASA also provides a program for mothers in jail.

Other jail self-help programs include Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, language studies for non-English speaking prisoners, GED classes and religious services.

Shorts report

Being on the sidelines is a new experience for Bill and Peggy Shorts, Waukegan's dynamic duo of Democratic politics, but indications are it won't be forever. Bill, who once sought the Democratic nomination for Waukegan mayor unsuccessfully, said if and when the couple returns "It will be on our own terms."

Peggy was squeezed out of her County Board seat by redistricting. In a written com-

Hold-over Republicans from the Lake County Board's go-go days for unbridled growth and development picked up an

It's beginning to look like Christmas

Editor's note: Jerry Pfarr did not write the "Pfarr Corner" this week. This is a column he wrote in December, 2001.

I see our neighbors are decking their halls and homes with boughs of holly and zillions of dazzling lights. Christmas must be coming.

Holy Rudolph, Santa, that was a fast year. A few neighbors (I won't mention names or addresses) left their holiday decorations up the whole 12 months, and that suddenly makes a lot of sense.

We also are guilty, in a way. Last Christmas we bought for near the fireplace an excellent rug with a great picture of Santa delivering gifts to a home. Our Santa rug has been there a whole year and however tacky that may have been, now it's back in season.

Most people (and all kids) naturally love Christmas, but it can be a lot of work and some folks are glad when it's over. It has been quipped that for people over 30 Thanksgiving comes AFTER Christmas.

The television guides show that about two dozen Christmas movies are coming our way in the next 10 days, most of them more than once. (No other holiday can make that claim.)

The offerings will range from the 1942 classic "Holiday Inn," featuring the singing of Bing Crosby and the dancing of Fred Astaire (classic) to the latest in the long line of remakes of Charles Dickens, "A Christmas Carol." This year's remake co-stars Nicolas Cage and Kate Winslet (cool).

So now the Christmas cards are arriving, along with the newest fad, the holiday brag letter telling us about the triumphs and travels our relatives and friends enjoyed during the year 2001.

I must concede that most of those letters from our loved ones and liked ones are full of interesting events and milestones we're happy to hear about.

I have yet to put together a brag letter because my day-to-day drudgery seems to pale by comparison. But I will try again; let me fetch my calendar.

January: Went to the dentist, had my teeth cleaned.

February: Our grandchildren sent us valentines.

March: Our grandson Zachary had his fourth birthday and my brother, Earl his 74th.

April: I had some dental surgery. Ouch. May: We celebrated our grandson Alex's first birthday. Also, our plumber found a dead raccoon in our crawl space and I gave him $100 to drag it out before it began to stink.

(Your life should be this exciting).

June: Played 14 rounds of golf.

July: Played another 14 rounds of golf.

August: Played 15 rounds of golf. (Retirement sure beats working).

September: The yellow-jacket wasps launched their annual attack but, as the self appointed West Antioch Wasp Warden, I wiped them out once again. War is nasty, but sometimes necessary.

October: Got the annual flu shot. We're wiping out those buggers, too.

November: Ashley Wade arrived, a precious little addition to our family. Our third grandchild is the daughter of our daughter, Ann and our son-in-law, Mike.

December: The month is only half over and something exciting still could happen. But nothing too exciting, I hope.

SEEING

So, Blagojevich made a great first impression by naming his bi-partisan transition team. Not that anyone by next year will remember who served on that team. But they may remember that he picked Jim Thompson to co-chair it.

What else is Blagojevich doing to cast an early favorable impression? He didn't waste any time telling Art Philip, who is chairman of the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority to shelve his announced move to almost double the tolls. The following day, Gov. Ryan had the same message for Philip, so the toll hike, at least for now, is "dead in the water."

There is so much wrong with how the tollway system is operated that Blagojevich did much more than just rail the attempt to raise tolls. He went so far as to suggest that the tollway authority should consider moving out of its plush headquarters. The headquarters cost $25 million when it was built, and has been dubbed the "Taj Mahal."

Board members sink their political posteriors into soft leather $1,700 chairs at the infrequent board meetings.

Mainly, Blagojevich is supporting reforms of the tollway system. If he is successful at that, his first impressions will become lasting and favorable. In the past, Sen. President James "Pate" Philip has been the principal stumbling block to reforming the tollway agency. Of course, he loses his presidency of the Senate when the Democrats take control in January. His brother Art, the aforementioned chairman of the tollway authority, may lose some of his clout, too.

I'm sure that there will be more substantive issues that Governor-elect Blagojevich will raise before he takes office to show the citizens of Illinois that he intends to change the way business is done in Springfield. The main theme of his political campaign was to clean up what has earned Springfield the unenviable title of "corrupt capital of the midwest." If he can elevate himself to become a true moral leader and reform the political system in state government, he will gain a legion of followers.

On balance, I believe that Blagojevich is starting out on the right foot and I believe that he will live up to the challenges ahead. The challenges are daunting. Throughout the country, state budgets are in a bind. The huge surpluses of yesterday are replaced by the deficits of today. Gaping holes in budgets cannot be easily filled and the fault does not lie in reckless spending rather the sheer reality that when an economy falters revenues disappear rapidly.

Rod Blagojevich knew that gaining the governorship wouldn't be easy. He won that. I'm sure that he also knew that governing wouldn't be a "walk in the park," either. He'll tackle that, too, with vigor and resolve.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Need center focus

The Illinois Republican Party is reeling from its electoral wounds. Now is the time to begin rebuilding the state GOP into a party that represents all Republicans. In order to be successful, this rebuilding must occur from the center, rather than from the right.

Illinois is a moderate state. Illinois voters have proven this over the past three decades by splitting their vote, electing Republicans in gubernatorial contests and Democrats in most national elections. The Republican Party here has enjoyed a string of successes by nominating moderate leaders like Jim Thompson and Jim Edgar in its primaries. When the GOP has suffered losses it has been as a result of nominating candidates from the conservative fringe of the party who are simply unelectable in a general election. If Illinois Republicans hope to be successful in the long-term, the party needs to move to the center.

Republicans must unify and rebuild around the core values that have helped shape the Party of Lincoln: smaller government, lower taxes, open markets, a strong national defense and greater individual freedoms and responsibilities. We must embrace real Republican values and reject inflexible ideologies and litmus tests. We must focus on that which unites us, rather than that which divides us. At the same time, we must do a better job of reaching out to new voters, including women and minorities. For too long, the gatekeepers of the Republican Party have blocked the doors of the GOP's "big tent." It's time to open the doors of the Republican tent.

As a gubernatorial candidate, I ran to offer people a choice. I ran to give more Republicans a voice—a voice that speaks to inclusion and tolerance. I ran because Republicans have many voices and faces.

The Illinois Republican Party now has a choice. GOP party leaders can choose a path of inclusion and unification or head in a different direction that will see the Party of Lincoln become a party of irrelevance in Illinois. Those who insist on shirking moderation in a "my way or the highway" approach, may succeed in hijacking the GOP, but they will face continual failure when it really matters—electing Republicans into office.

Sierra serenade

I am disappointed that some of the Lake County Board members are predicting changes unlikely after the elections. Changes are sorely needed. Committee leadership positions should be drawn from a hat rather than controlled by the old entrenched County Board members. The new members and their communities deserve equal leadership opportunities.

The old County Board members affiliated with The Sierra Club and Lake County Conservation Coalition lost millions of dollars in revenue and lost jobs. They have stacked the Lake County agencies such as the zoning board and Lake County Soils and Water with Sierra Club members to stop construction and economic development. The Sierra Club comrades need to be replaced with more balanced individuals.

The Lake County Conservation Coalition spent tens of thousands of dollars to promote some losing County Board candidates. The Lake County taxpayers voted for changes.

Judges lauded

Thank you Lake County voters for your support on Nov. 5. I am grateful for your trust and vote of confidence in the job we do in the County Clerk's office.

Serving as the vehicle for change in government can be a bumpy road, but both exciting and challenging! On Nov. 5, we saw our largest number of voters to date use the optical scan voting system, and our more than 2,300 election judges did a fantastic job serving the voters. Lake County election judges once again proved their dedication throughout the busy day.

Bringing technology and professionalism to those we serve continues to be our number one goal. Whether serving you in our office or in one of our 449 voting precincts, we are here to serve. You're always welcome in the County Clerk's office.

Lake Forest Hospital breaks ground for Prairie Crossing Campus

"A very much needed health-care facility," is how Mayor Timothy Perry described Lake Forest Hospital's soon-to-be-built Grayslake Prairie Crossing Campus in remarks at today's groundbreaking ceremony in an open field near the intersection of Routes 120 and 45. This $39 million project will provide a comprehensive health and wellness campus on a 44-acre setting in the heart of Lake County. The three-story, 136,000 square foot facility, due to open in early 2004, will include:

- A full-service Urgent Care Center providing walk-in medical services for non-life-threatening situations
- An Outpatient Diagnostic and Treatment

Center featuring clinical laboratory services, a full-service radiology facility, non-invasive cardiology services, and audiology services

- Physical, occupational and speech therapy
- Physicians' offices

It will be located just west of the Country Squire restaurant (just north of the Prairie Crossing subdivision).

Lake Forest Hospital President Bill Ries told those in attendance at today's ceremony, "The Grayslake Prairie Crossing Campus will bring state-of-the-art medical care to central Lake County." LFH Board of Directors Chairman James Glasser added, "While based in Lake Forest, Lake Forest Hospital and our physicians have always served patients from throughout Lake County and southern Wisconsin. We've been at the forefront of community medicine and look forward to becoming part of the Grayslake community." LFH Medical Staff President Aristeide Diveris, MD, said, "We're committed to building a healthy future in central Lake County."

The first groundbreaking ceremony took place Sept. 24 on the LFH grounds-marking the start of a $22 million Center for Women's Health addition to the main hospital building. This new 72,000 square-foot, four-level wing is due to open in late 2003. It will have its own entrance and parking area. Lake Forest Hospital's Center for Women's Health will allow a one-stop, comprehensive health assessment for women of all ages. Services are planned to be holistic, designed to improve the health of body, mind and spirit.

Completion of the Center for Women's Health will free up some space and clear the way for renovation work in LFH's main building. This $4 million dollar project, due for completion in 2005, will allow for the expansion and improvement of existing services as well as more patient privacy. The total cost of all three LFH building projects is $65 million.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hello readers and happy Thanksgiving! I wanted to use this week's column to give thanks for many things. I'm hoping that my thanks causes you to think of the things that you are thankful for. We all have many things in our lives that we may take for granted. It's good to take a good look at all that we have, at least once a year, if not more!

Thank you to all of my readers for taking the time out each week to look for my column. I have had a lot of people call and tell me about how they cut out and save my columns and about the help they have given them and this just warms my heart to no end! I truly appreciate each and every one of you!

Thank you to all of my clients. To all the people who have allowed me to become a part of their lives in order to help them get to a stronger place. It inspires me to see someone improve in so many ways.

Thank you to Lakeland Newspapers for this wonderful column. I enjoy writing about these topics so much and I truly appreciate the forum you have given me, as well as the opportunity for thought that goes into producing the column.

Thank you to the professionals out there who have called and told me about their views in response to my columns. I believe that no matter how educated any of us are, we can always learn from others!

Thank you to my wonderful, loving family (which has just grown in the most wonderful of ways) for all you have taught me over the years. No family is ever perfect, but if there is love and support, perfection can't be far behind!

Thank you to G-d for this wonderful life and all of the wonderful people and things in it! We all have our gifts and challenges each day. The appreciation, love and strength to take them on is what makes life so wonderful! No matter what the situation is, thank you for the experience of all of it. Thank you for all the gifts!

Thanksgiving comes but once a year. Maybe we would all feel a little lift each day if we could think about our list of thanks once a week or maybe even more! Again, hope you had a happy Turkey Day and see ya next time!

ATTENTION PET OWNERS We Do Not Knowingly Accept Ads For Free/Giveaway Animals

If you must give up your beloved pet, please consider these suggestions.
*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.

*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.

*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

Cranberries for Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving, whether in the country or city, has a special meaning. It's a time of family get-togethers, turkey-cranberry-pumpkin pie feasts, and the giving of thanks for our many blessings. We remember then the hearty settlers of Plymouth Rock fame, who endured numerous hardships to settle a new land. But in the midst of their trials, they stopped to give thanks and feast with friends after the first year's harvest.

Although their material goods weren't plentiful, they were thankful to be alive and have a goodly harvest. They set an American tradition which has been followed throughout the years.

Family Traditions

I remember Thanksgiving at Grandma's farm, where we went to celebrate each year. We rode the 40 miles in an unheated car, putting our feet on heated soap stones wrapped in blankets and on the warm roasting pan of turkey or chicken Mother had cooked for the festive dinner. Although we were traveling by auto, we children always sang, "Over the River and Through the Woods." Our voices rang merrily through all the verses and then on to other songs as we passed the time until we reached the long laneway to Grandma's Trails End Farm.

Cranberries a Native Food

Thanksgiving without cranberries is almost unthinkable. The early Massachusetts settlers found them growing among the Cape Cod bogs. We Americans have continued to include them when we serve turkey for a holiday meal.

These ruby berries had been used for many years by the Indians. "Ibimi" berries, the natives called them.

The settlers referred to them as "craneberries." Some say it was because the bud and stem resembled the neck and head of a crane. Others maintain it was because the cranes living on Cape Cod ate these berries. Still others called them "bounce" berries because some people bounced the berries against a hard surface to test their ripeness.

For a tasty CRANBERRY MOLD, cook 1 pound fresh cranberries in 2 cups water for 5-10 minutes, until the berries have popped their skins (the sign that they're done).

Strain through a fine sieve. Press the pulp through with the juice. Then stir in 2 cups sugar and boil for 3 minutes.

Pour the mixture into a 1 quart mold. Keep in the refrigerator several hours, until it has set. Unmold at serving time.

Fresh cranberry recipes

Does your family think cranberries come out of can? Do your kids assume those little red berries are only good for stringing and hanging on the Christmas tree, or feeding to the birds? You aren't alone! Try these fresh cranberry recipes this year, and leave the can behind. You might be surprised.

Fresh Cranberry Jelly

Ingredients:

4 cups (1 pound) fresh cranberries
2 cups sugar
dash salt

Wash cranberries; drain and remove stems. Place in 3 1/2 quart saucepan. Add 2 cups water; bring to boiling point over high heat. Reduce heat; simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Press cranberries and liquid through food mill or colander; then strain, to remove seeds. Bring cranberry puree to boiling point; boil, uncovered, 3 minutes. Add sugar and salt; boil 2 minutes. Pour into a 3 cup mold. Refrigerate for 5 hours or until firm. To unmold carefully loosen edge with knife and turn out onto dish. 8-10 servings.

Fresh Cranberry Relish

Ingredients:
2 large navel oranges
4 cups (1 pound) fresh cranberries
2 unpared red apples, cored
2 cups water

Peel oranges; reserve half of 1 peel. Chop oranges coarsely. Wash cranberries; drain and remove stems. Put cranberries, apples and reserved peel through the coarse blade of a food chopper or use food processor. Add oranges and sugar; mix well. Refrigerate several hours or overnight before serving. Makes 1 quart.

Fresh Cranberry Sauce

Ingredients:
4 cups (1 pound) cranberries
3 cups sugar
2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon grated orange peel

Wash cranberries; drain and remove stems. Combine with remaining ingredients in 3 1/2 quart saucepan; let stand 5 minutes. Simmer, covered for 5 more minutes, remove from heat and stand 5 minutes. Simmer cover for about 5 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Cool; refrigerate until well chilled, several hours or overnight. Makes 1 quart.

Spiced Cranberries

Ingredients:
1 pound fresh cranberries
5 whole cloves
5 whole allspice
2 (3 inch) cinnamon sticks
3 cups sugar

Wash cranberries; drain and remove stems. Place cranberries into a 3 1/2 quart saucepan. Add 1 1/2 cups water. Tie spices in a small cheesecloth bag (or tie cheese cloth bundle with kitchen string); add to cranberries. Cook, covered, over medium heat; just until cranberries burst; about 10 minutes. Remove from heat; discard cheesecloth and spices. Stir in sugar and cook 5 more minutes on low heat. Cool; refrigerate covered and serve cold. Makes 1 quart.

Holiday Recipes

Banana Split Cake

Pat Slogenhop, Grayslake

Ingredients:
2 cups graham crackers crumbs
3 sticks margarine
2 cups powdered sugar
1 egg
pinch of salt
3 bananas sliced
1 large can crushed pineapple, drained
1 large package Cool Whip
2/3 cups chopped nuts

Preparation:

Press graham crackers crumbs with one stick of melted margarine in a 13x9 pan. Let it set. Beat two sticks of melted margarine, powdered sugar and egg 15 minutes. (this is very necessary) over graham cracker crumbs. Arrange sliced bananas and pineapple on top of this. Spread the package of Cool Whip on top. Chill overnight. Decorate with nuts and cherries.

Santa's Chocolate Sleigh Bell Cookies

Ingredients and Supplies
Makes 3-4 dozen cookies

- * 1/2 cup of butter
- * 2 cups of peanut butter
- * saucepan
- * Large bowl
- * 3 1/2 cups powdered sugar
- * 3 1/2 cups of Kellogg's Rice Krispies Cereal
- * Three cookie sheets
- * Wax paper
- * 12-ounce bag of semi-sweet chocolate chips
- * 3 ounces chocolate candy bars
- * One-third bar paraffin wax
- * Double boiler
- * Toothpicks

Directions:

1. Melt the butter and peanut butter in the saucepan on low-medium heat, stirring constantly.
2. In the large bowl, stir the powdered sugar and cereal together.
3. Line the cookie sheets with wax paper.
4. Pour the peanut butter mixture into cereal mixture, and mix thoroughly.
5. With clean hands, roll the mixture into 1-inch balls and place them on the cookie sheets.
6. Put the cookie sheets in the refrigerator while you melt the chocolate.
7. Put the chocolate chips, candy bars, and paraffin wax in the double boiler, with water in the bottom, and let them all melt, stirring occasionally.
8. Poke each cookie ball with a toothpick, then dip into the chocolate mixture. Hold the cookie over the double boiler for a few seconds to let any excess chocolate drip off.

Shake the cookie slightly over the cookie sheet to let it fall off the toothpick.

9. Fill any toothpick hole with a drop of chocolate if needed.

10. It's not necessary to refrigerate the cookies, but they're delicious when cold.

Tip: Don't use oily peanut butter because the cookies won't roll properly.

McHenry County's Home for The Holidays Victorian Christmas in Woodstock

Our Family Invites Your Family to the Annual Lighting of the Woodstock Square
Friday, November 29th, 7 p.m.

Festivities begin at 6 p.m. and continue through 10 p.m.

The holiday's are here, let's all come together.

It's Christmas in Woodstock, it's never looked better!

November 29th, marks the big night.

The Annual Lighting of the Square

Have you seen such a sight?

Carolers will sing, ballerinas will dance,

Raffle tickets are available, so please take a chance!

A brief procession of Santa, politicians and queens,

'Tis the season of miracles, do you see what we mean?

The Lighting will happen at 7 o'clock.

Come from far or near, we want you to flock.

The Lighting is one for the whole town to see.

Not one like it, in all of McHenry County.

Santa will be here to answer your wishes,

but you cannot go home without a meal so delicious!

The square merchants will open their doors until 10,

You will surely find the perfect gift to send.

Visit us often, stay awhile,

Woodstock has charm, grace and style.

With your invitation extended, we look forward to seeing you,

November 29th will offer a fabulous view!

The Tradition continues with free carriage rides around the historic Woodstock Square!

Santa's sleigh stops at the Hancock Observatory

An 11-train, 1,375 square-foot model train exhibit will delight children

Families celebrating the Christmas season on Michigan Ave. in Chicago will have an opportunity to experience "A Great View and Santa Too" at The Hancock Observatory during weekends before the holiday.

Throughout this holiday season, for the regular admission price of $9.50 for adults and $6 for children—with free admission to children 4 and under—visitors to the observatory will give their lists to Santa and receive a free photo with Old St. Nick in his sleigh, taken by Mrs. Claus. Additionally, Santa's visitors will get a chance to win plush Patrick the Pup or Penelope the Pup from FAO Schwarz of Michigan Avenue.

Santa and Mrs. Claus will be at the observatory from 11 a.m.-5:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 29-30 and Sunday, Dec. 1; and on Saturdays and Sundays, Dec. 7-8; Dec. 14-15; and Dec. 21-22.

Also at the John Hancock Center, the Hancock Holiday Mountain Railroad, sponsored by The Hancock Observatory, will be on display.

For the last nine years, children of all ages have delighted in watching this 1,375-square-foot model train exhibit—one of the classic symbols of the season. Nestled in a glen of snow-covered trees, the display features 11 trains, including a cable car to the North Pole, a reindeer barn, a skating rink, a Christmas carousel and a special display geared toward young children.

For more information call 1-888-875-VIEW (8439) or visit the web site at www.hancockobservatory.com.

Toys for Tots drop-off sites at Lake County Forest Preserves

Brighten the holidays for local children by bringing new, unwrapped toys to various Lake County Forest Preserves Toys for Tots drop-off sites until Monday, December 16. Sponsored by the United States Marine Corps Reserve, Toys for Tots collects and distributes new toys to needy children in Lake and McHenry counties. Bring your donation to the lobby of the County of Lake building in Waukegan, or to any of the six Forest Preserve locations which are:

Lake County Forest Preserves General Offices, located at 2000 N. Milwaukee Av., just north of Route 137 near Libertyville

Greenbelt Cultural Center, located in Greenbelt Forest Preserve on Green Bay Road south of Belvidere Road (Route 120) near North Chicago and Waukegan

Lake County Discovery Museum, located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Route 176 west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda

Lake County Forest Preserve Planning, Conservation & Development Office, located at

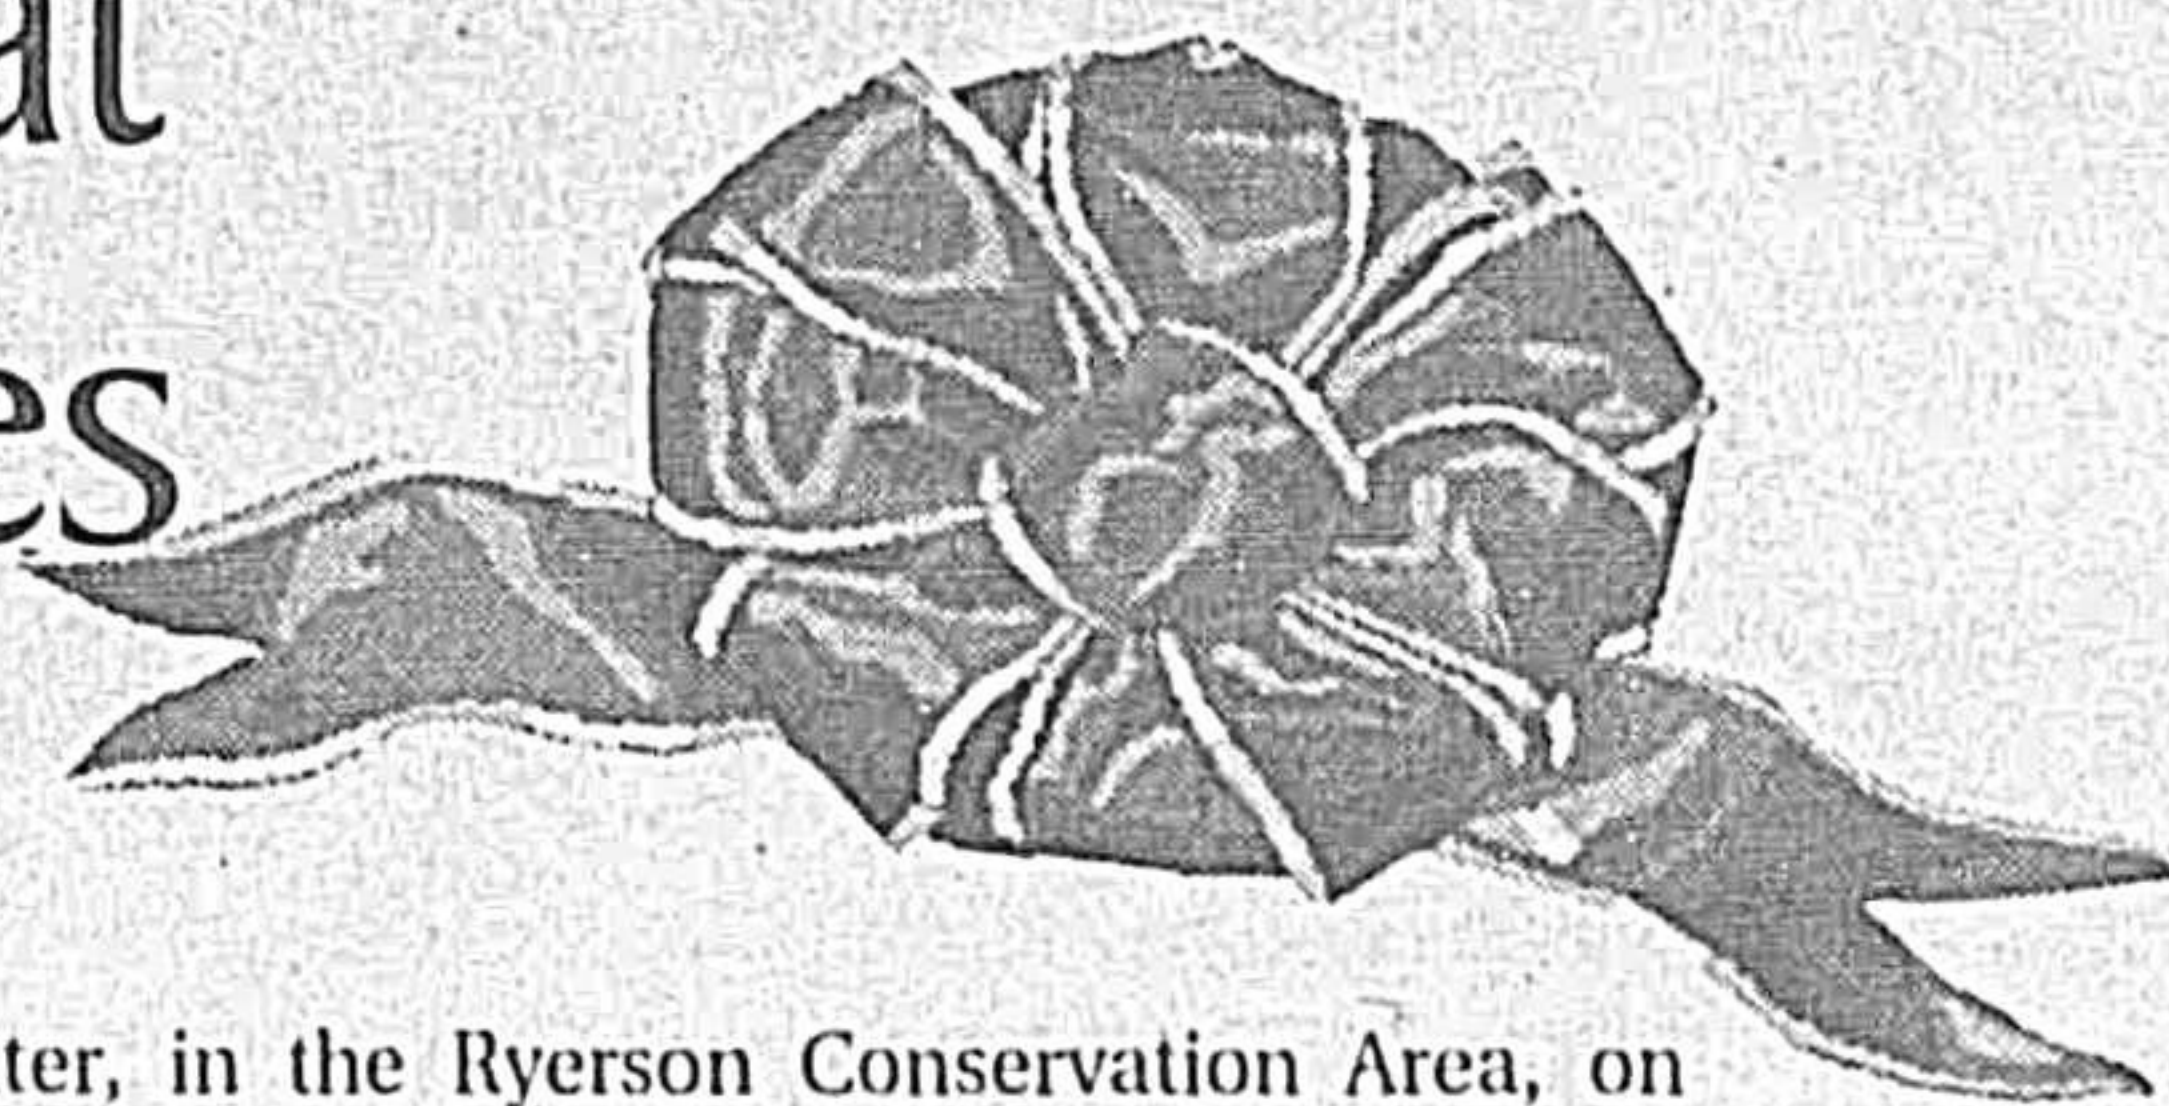

32492 N. Almond Rd., just north of Casey Road near Grayslake

Ryerson Woods Visitors Center, in the Ryerson Conservation Area, on Riverwoods Road south of Route 22 near Deerfield Lake County Courthouse and Administrative Complex, main lobby, located at 18 N. County St. in Waukegan

Toys for Tots is a nationwide Marine Corps Reserve program started in 1947. Last year, the Marines and the Toys for Tots Foundation collected and distributed over 13 million new toys to over six million needy children nationwide.

In Lake County, the Toys for Tots campaign is coordinated by the Marines of Weapons Company, 2nd Battalion, 24th Marines, headquartered in Waukegan. More information about Toys for Tots visit their website at www.ToysForTots.org.

For more information about the Lake County Forest Preserve drop-off sites, call Mary Longshore, Forest Preserve Marketing Coordinator at 847-968-3229.

We Do It Right! GEORGETOWN

Create magic this Christmas

There's something so magical about the Christmas holiday. The scents, the songs, the sentiments, the decorations—all those small, but meaningful traditions that we have come to associate with this jolly season that make Christmas such a heart-filling occasion! Here are a few of my favorite ways to create Christmas magic.

Candy Canes—these wonderful striped peppermints are delicious to eat and perfect for holiday decorating. Wrap candy canes and peppermint sticks around a candle for an easy and fun centerpiece. Or use candy canes to make easels for place cards for the holiday table.

Holly has been a Christmas tradition for centuries because of the uniquely shaped leaves and pretty red berries. This year, use fabric to make holly leaves and attach colorful red buttons for berries to dress up basket handles, gift boxes, or to make a wreath for a vintage toy to wear.

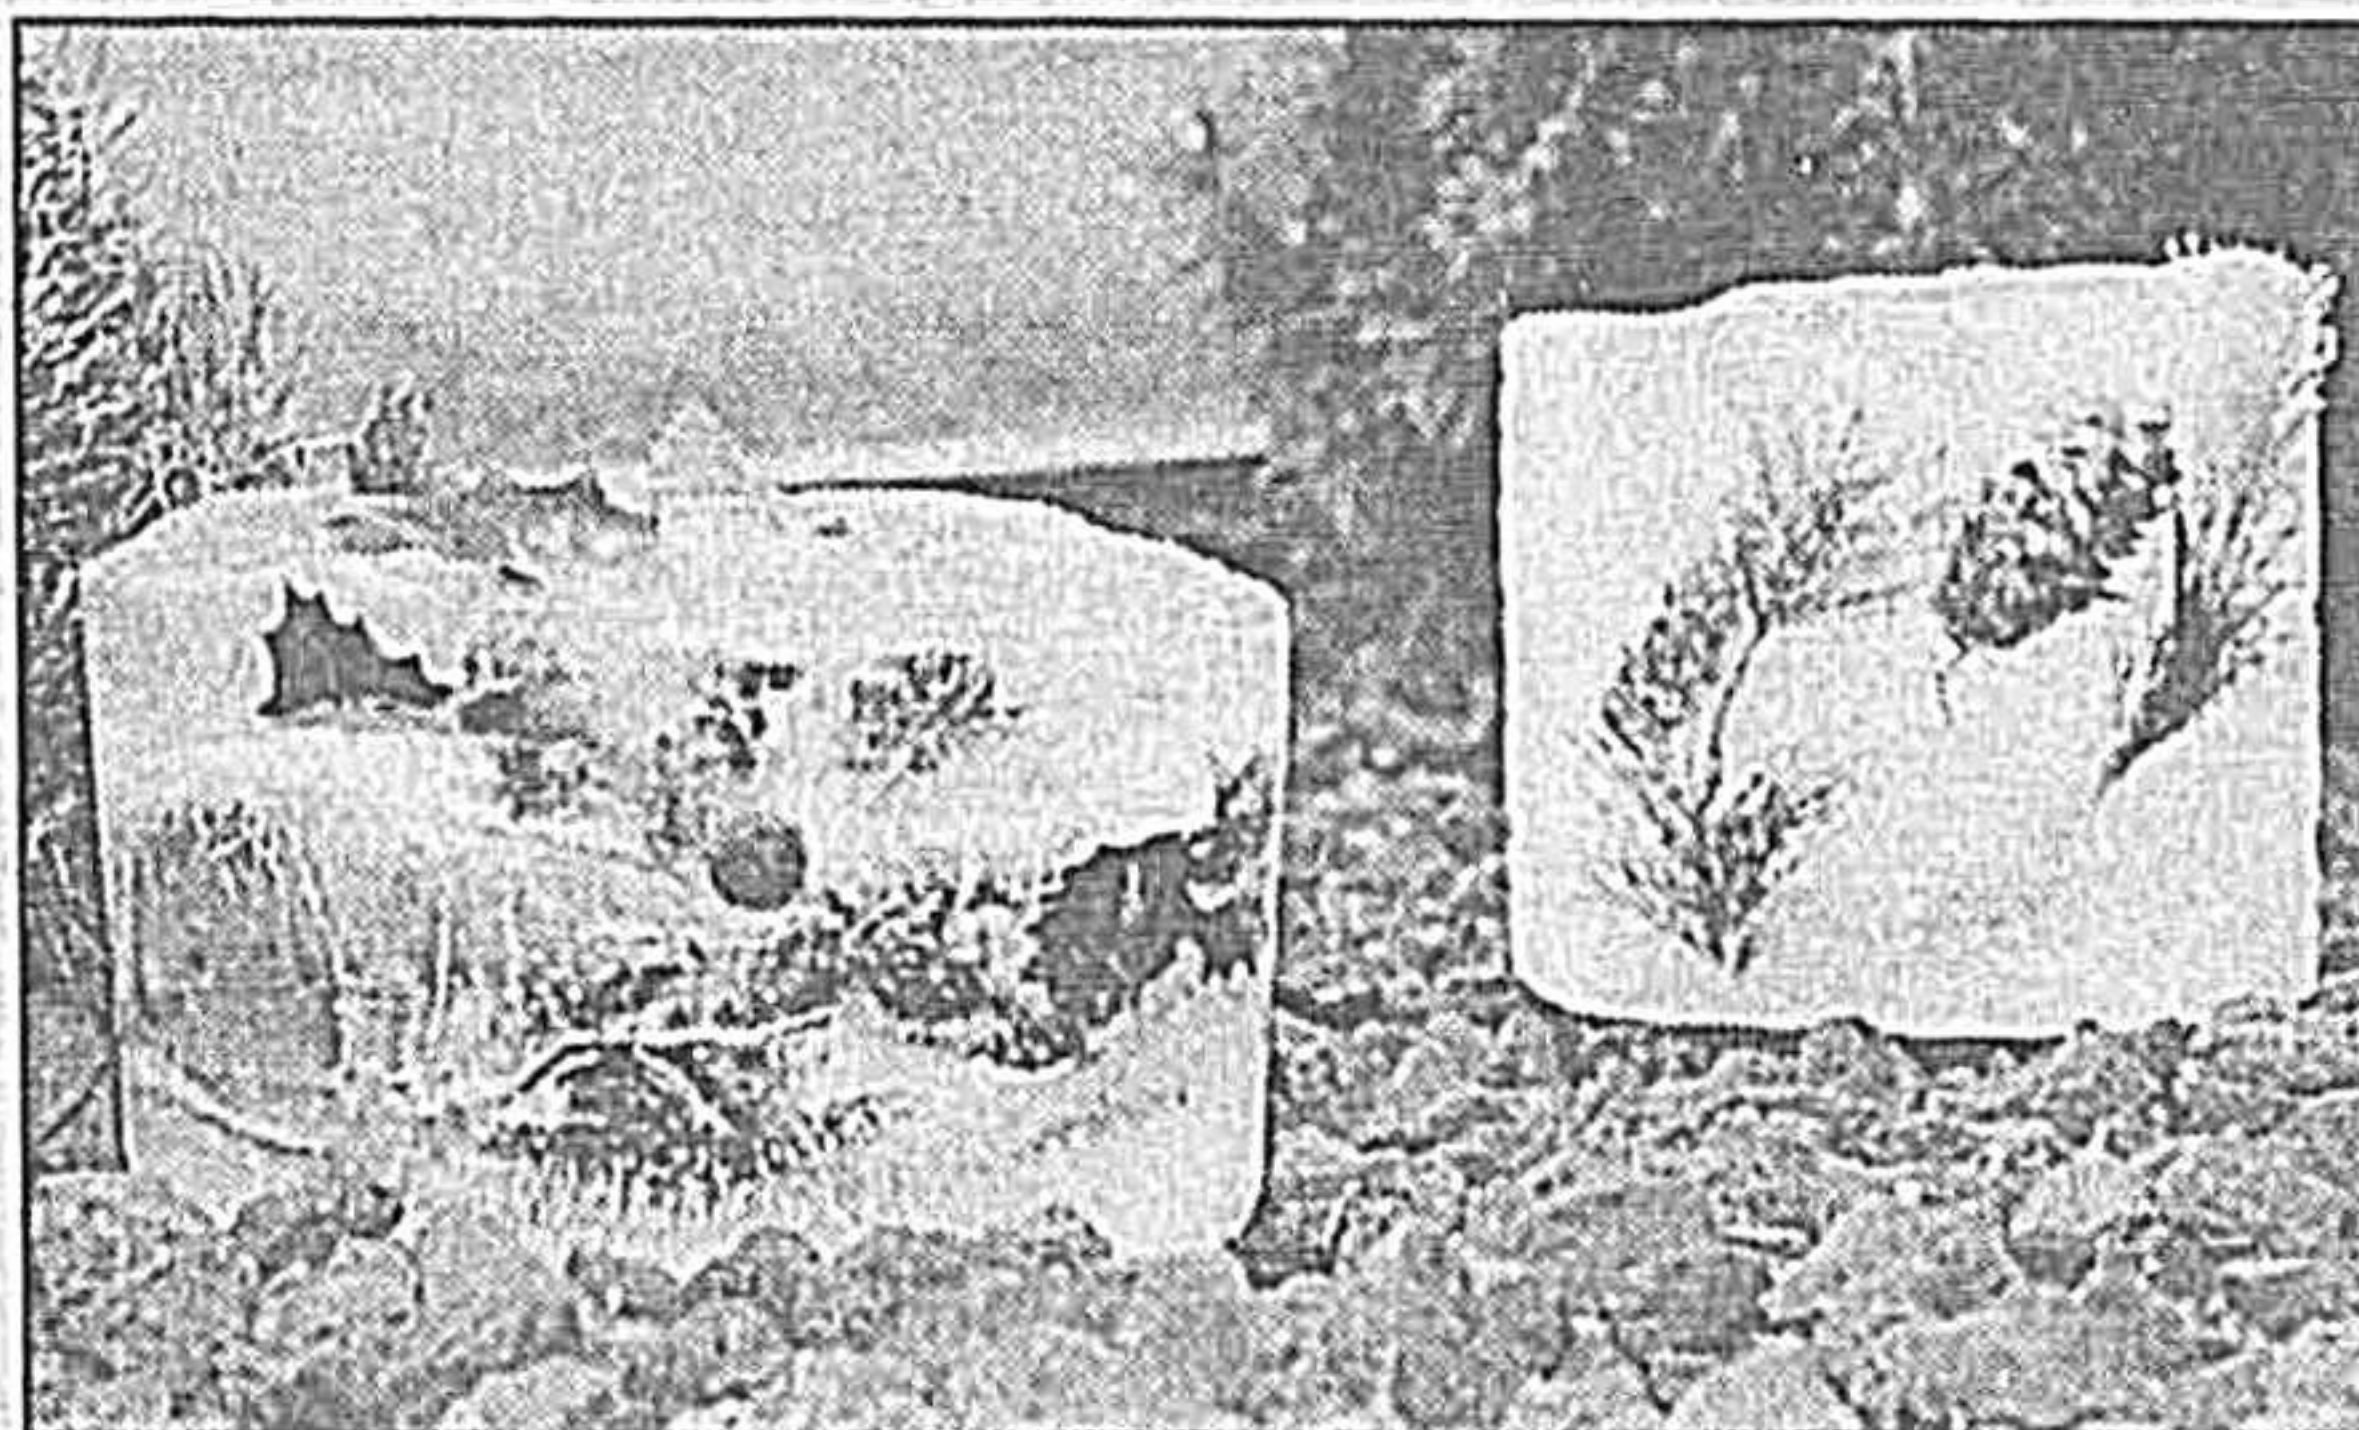

Reindeer can do more than pull a sled! Make some reindeer ornaments to decorate your tree by fusing fur-textured cloth to felt then cutting out the pieces. Attach legs separately by sewing on buttons.

Icicles aren't just for the North Pole! Welcome guests to your home with icy luminaries lining the sidewalk. Simply freeze an inch of water in the bottom of a large can or plastic container. When frozen place a smaller can on the ice and weight it with rocks. Freeze water around the outside of the smaller container creating a hollow cylinder in which to place your candle. Holly, berries, or other greenery can be frozen in the ice for even more holiday charm.

Snowmen are among my favorite holiday decorations because you can keep them on display all winter long. It's easy to paint and stack a graduated set of round nesting boxes to create a cute snowman to decorate a corner or shelf. Glue on buttons for the snowman's face and add a scarf. Simple felt shapes stuffed and stitched together become snowman ornaments when embellished with beads, buttons, and a muffler.

Trees are a holiday tradition and a favorite decoration. Make your own trees to decorate the table or mantel by gluing nuts or pinecones (or a combination of both!) to a Styrofoam tree form. Place in a painted flowerpot for a terrific decoration.

Mittens are a must at Christmas! Use flannel or fleece to make mitten shapes and decorate with embroidery, appliques, buttons, and chenille rickrack. Combine with sponge snowflakes to make a cute and

Apples are a perfect way to add a natural touch to your holiday decorations. Starting with a set of stacking bowls, elevate each bowl using small containers or other objects, then place greenery, berries, and small cones in each section. Top off your creation with small apples accented with pine sprigs. Or place apples, greenery, and cones in a basket for a fast and easy decoration.

Santa Claus—No Christmas would be complete without an appearance by this jolly fellow! Use Santa-printed fabric to cover a round box and fill with potpourri. Or paint a tree shaped box as the perfect frame for a primitive Santa cut from fused fabric. Use a pen to mark "stitches" and add features.

Have a merry time as you create some magic this Christmas! —By Debbie Mumm, special correspondent

Packaging homemade goodies as holiday gifts

Q: I love to give homemade cookies as holiday gifts, but I never know how to package them so they look like a "real gift" rather than just something I threw together. I've used tins and those holiday zipper bags but I was hoping for something a little more appealing in the presentation. Any ideas?

— Courtney

A: Courtney has a great question. Cookies, brownies, and homemade candies are wonderful gifts from the heart. But what are some fun and pretty ways to wrap your treats? Try some of these ideas when wrapping up your holiday gifts. Jars

Use mason jars (completely cleaned and dried) to stack homemade cookies in, then decorate the lid with a pretty bow tied from holiday ribbon.

Colorful Wrap

When using cookie tins, try wrapping the cookies in colored plastic wrap and tying with thin colorful ribbon. To wrap, place a rectangle of plastic wrap on the counter, place a short stack of cookies in the center of the plastic wrap, then gather the plastic wrap together above the cookies. Tie with ribbon and blossom out the top of the plastic wrap so that it looks attractive.

Recycle

Use empty (washed and dried) Pringles cans to stack cookies in. You can decorate these with wrapping paper, contact paper, or paint and ribbons. You could even use aluminum foil and a pretty bow.

Baskets

Baskets make a WONDERFUL presentation for edible gifts. Bundle cookies in colored or clear plastic wrap as indicated above, then arrange in a basket that is lined with tissue paper. Insert extra tissue paper as filler and "fluff" it up to make it pretty. Tie a big shiny bow to the handle of the basket or wrap the entire basket in cellophane then adorn with a bow.

Mugs & Plates

For smaller portions of cookies, wrap in plastic wrap and put inside a coffee mug, add a package of cocoa, a cinnamon stick or candy cane, wrap with cellophane and a bow. For larger portions, you can use a holiday plate wrapped in cellophane, embellished with ribbon.

Cookie Jar

Though a little more extravagant, place cookies inside of a new holiday or everyday cookie jar. Wrap the cookie jar in wrapping paper, add curling ribbon in several colors. This gift will keep giving for many years to come!

You can top off home baked gifts with a fun poem or friendly hand written note. If your gift recipient enjoys baking, include the recipe and a wooden spoon or wire whisk with the gift as a special touch. —Picture and Article Copyright 2000-2001 FamilyCorner Magazine, <http://familycorner.com>. <http://oldfashionedliving.com/holidays/homemade.html>—Copyright 2000, Amanda Formaro, <http://familycorner.com>

Hooterville Christmas Tree Farm a local tradition

Start a new tradition the old-fashioned way with a visit to Hooterville Christmas Tree Farm, located at 39697 N. Beck Road in Lake Villa, a half-mile west of Rt. 45 off Grass Lake Road.

Choose and harvest Scotch pines up to 10 feet for $38. Saws are provided for the ambitious family outing.

For those less inclined, there are pre-cut Fraser fir and White Pines from the Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, priced individually.

After tree-hunting, warm up by the fireplace in the Christmas Craft and Gift Shop and browse ornaments, decorations, teacher gifts, stocking stuffers, gourmet mixes and more. Visit Mrs. Klaus' Kitchen for hot cocoa, cider, donuts, popcorn and freshly-baked cookies, and free coffee.

Also available are fresh Fraser fir wreaths and garland and firewood "Snuggle Bundles."

The kids can visit with Santa Sunday afternoons.

Sunday, Dec. 8, there will be special guest appearances by Hooterville's own dancing Reindeer and swingin' Snowman from 2-4 p.m.

Hours are weekdays 3-7 p.m., Friday-Sunday, 8 a.m.-7 p.m., and closed Monday.

For more information, call 847-395-4424.

port the organization's operation, mission, and philosophy. This includes contacting patients and/or family members to express the hospital's personal interest and concern in the patient as a person, and the availability of an advocate who can assist them should any questions or problems arise during or after their stay.

REQUIREMENTS:

- Knowledge of all operations and procedures; counseling assessment skills.
- Should possess leadership qualities; administrative abilities, and teaching skills.
- Should be able to communicate well with patients and staff.
- Bachelor's degree preferred or six years experience in health related profession.
- Minimum two years patient advocate experience

Knowing that our professionals are invaluable contributors to our overall mission, we offer competitive salaries, comprehensive benefits that encourage a healthy work/life balance, and a cordial and collaborative work environment.

For consideration, please forward your resume to: Midwestern Regional

SHARE WORK GOALS TO GET REFERRALS

By Scott T. Fleischmann

It is common knowledge that more people are hired through referrals than through any other method. However, many of those who are looking for a new job do not know how to take advantage of this technique. The key to being referred by family members, friends, and even friends of friends, is to be willing to share work goals with everyone. Although this may be uncomfortable at first, it does not need to be self-serving. In fact, those who are looking for jobs are looking to better an organization by contributing the skills and experience to help an organization meet its goals.

The first step in getting more referrals is to have a clear picture of the desired job. Those who do not have this clear perception risk giving others confused information. The imaging process can be as simple as closing your eyes and picturing yourself in the desired position. Try to visualize everything about the position. See the tasks that you're doing and the environment that you are working in. If you are working inside, picture what is outside the building. Picture co-workers, vendors, customers and managers. Identify your supervisor's management style. Keep asking deeper questions until you feel like you know everything possible about this perfect job. Once you have the clear image, write down the details that might interest others. For example, someone who would like to move to a different location would want to share that information with others. Family and friends will be curious about that. It will be a good starting point for a discussion about career goals.

However, those who are not relocating need to look for good openings to begin these conversations. Think about your conversations with friends and relatives. What are the topics discussed? How can you transition from those topics to the job search? How are those topics and the job search related? Once that conversation is started, details about why one desires a job change and what one is seeking can be shared.

One technique that has worked well for a friend is to ask people about the company for which they work. Ask what they like about the organization. What would they like to change? What does the company look for in new employees? Once he or she has described the company, share your goals. Then ask if this organization might meet those objectives.

The most important details are those related to the type of work that you want, the skills that you have developed and the type of company for which you would like to work. This information needs to be shared so that others gain the clear image that you have already developed. That information is the basis that others will use to recommend you for a job.

There are many resources to use in finding the next job. However, referrals are one of the best. By developing a clear image of the desired job, identifying transition topics and overcoming the fear of sharing that information, many have been referred for great jobs.

Scott T. Fleischmann is the Managing Principal for Integrity Business Solutions Inc., a full service management consulting firm. He can be contacted through e-mail at ibs.scott@juno.com or through the company web site at www.aboutintegrity.net.

Appreciation the operative word at Wilmot's annual banquet

By PAUL KUYAWA
Wilmot Correspondent

New Wilmot Speedway Promoter Marie Winker of Winker Motorsports had a plan—she wanted to show her appreciation for the efforts of the drivers that competed at Wilmot throughout the 2002 season by putting together a first-class banquet that far exceeded everyone's expectations.

South Hills Country Club in Franksville (Wis.) was the sight of the gala event held last weekend.

Champions were crowned, some new, and some veterans—all were worthy of being called champion. Johnsbury's Dave Moulis was crowned Wilmot Speedway track champion for the sixth time in his career. Moulis edged out a very determined Todd Daun for the title by one point, with the points race not being decided until the final checkered flag was waved over the 2002 season. Moulis and crew overcame two weeks of very uncharacteristic mechanical woes while battling Daun for the sprint car title.

A new champion is set to reign over the IMCA modified division as Scott Kuxhouse of Antioch scoring his first track championship at Wilmot.

Kuxhouse started his winning ways at the beginning of the season and never looked back. Kuxhouse endured an engine claim during the season. Even though he had to give up his race-winning engine, he simply plugged another bullet in and kept right on winning, a true testament to Scott and his crew.

Lyle Bottlemey scored his second IMCA hobby stock championship. Bottlemey was forced to endure a season-long points battle with David Jones. Bottlemey, like Moulis, secured his championship on the final night of the race season.

Mammoth trophies were presented to the top five competitors in each division. Each driver that competed in 85 percent of the races at the Wilmot Speedway were recognized and given their awards. In addition to the trophies, champions were awarded a traditional Wilmot Speedway Track Champion jacket as well as other gifts.

Winker Motorsports and the Hot Rod Shop awarded merchandise to competitors as well. These two speed shops have been supporting more than auto racing for many years. A crowd of over 300 at Southern Hills was most appreciative of the efforts of Winker and Darrell Dodd for providing the unexpected gifts to the racers.

Antioch's Tom Spooner can now add 2002 Wilmot Speedway Rookie of the Year to his racing resume. Tom finished 23rd in the final points tally enroute to his rookie winning effort.

IMCA modified driver Chuck Needham was awarded a pair of bumpers from M.S. Chassis while Dave Holden and Matt Barnes each received a wheel from Diamond Racing Wheels.

J&J Powder Coating, awarded a gift certificate to Scott Lenz of Addison, which should help him in putting together an even more stunning car than ever.

Richmond's Tony Kautz was also honored for all the extra activities he did with his racing team this year. Tony attended many parades and civic functions during the racing season.

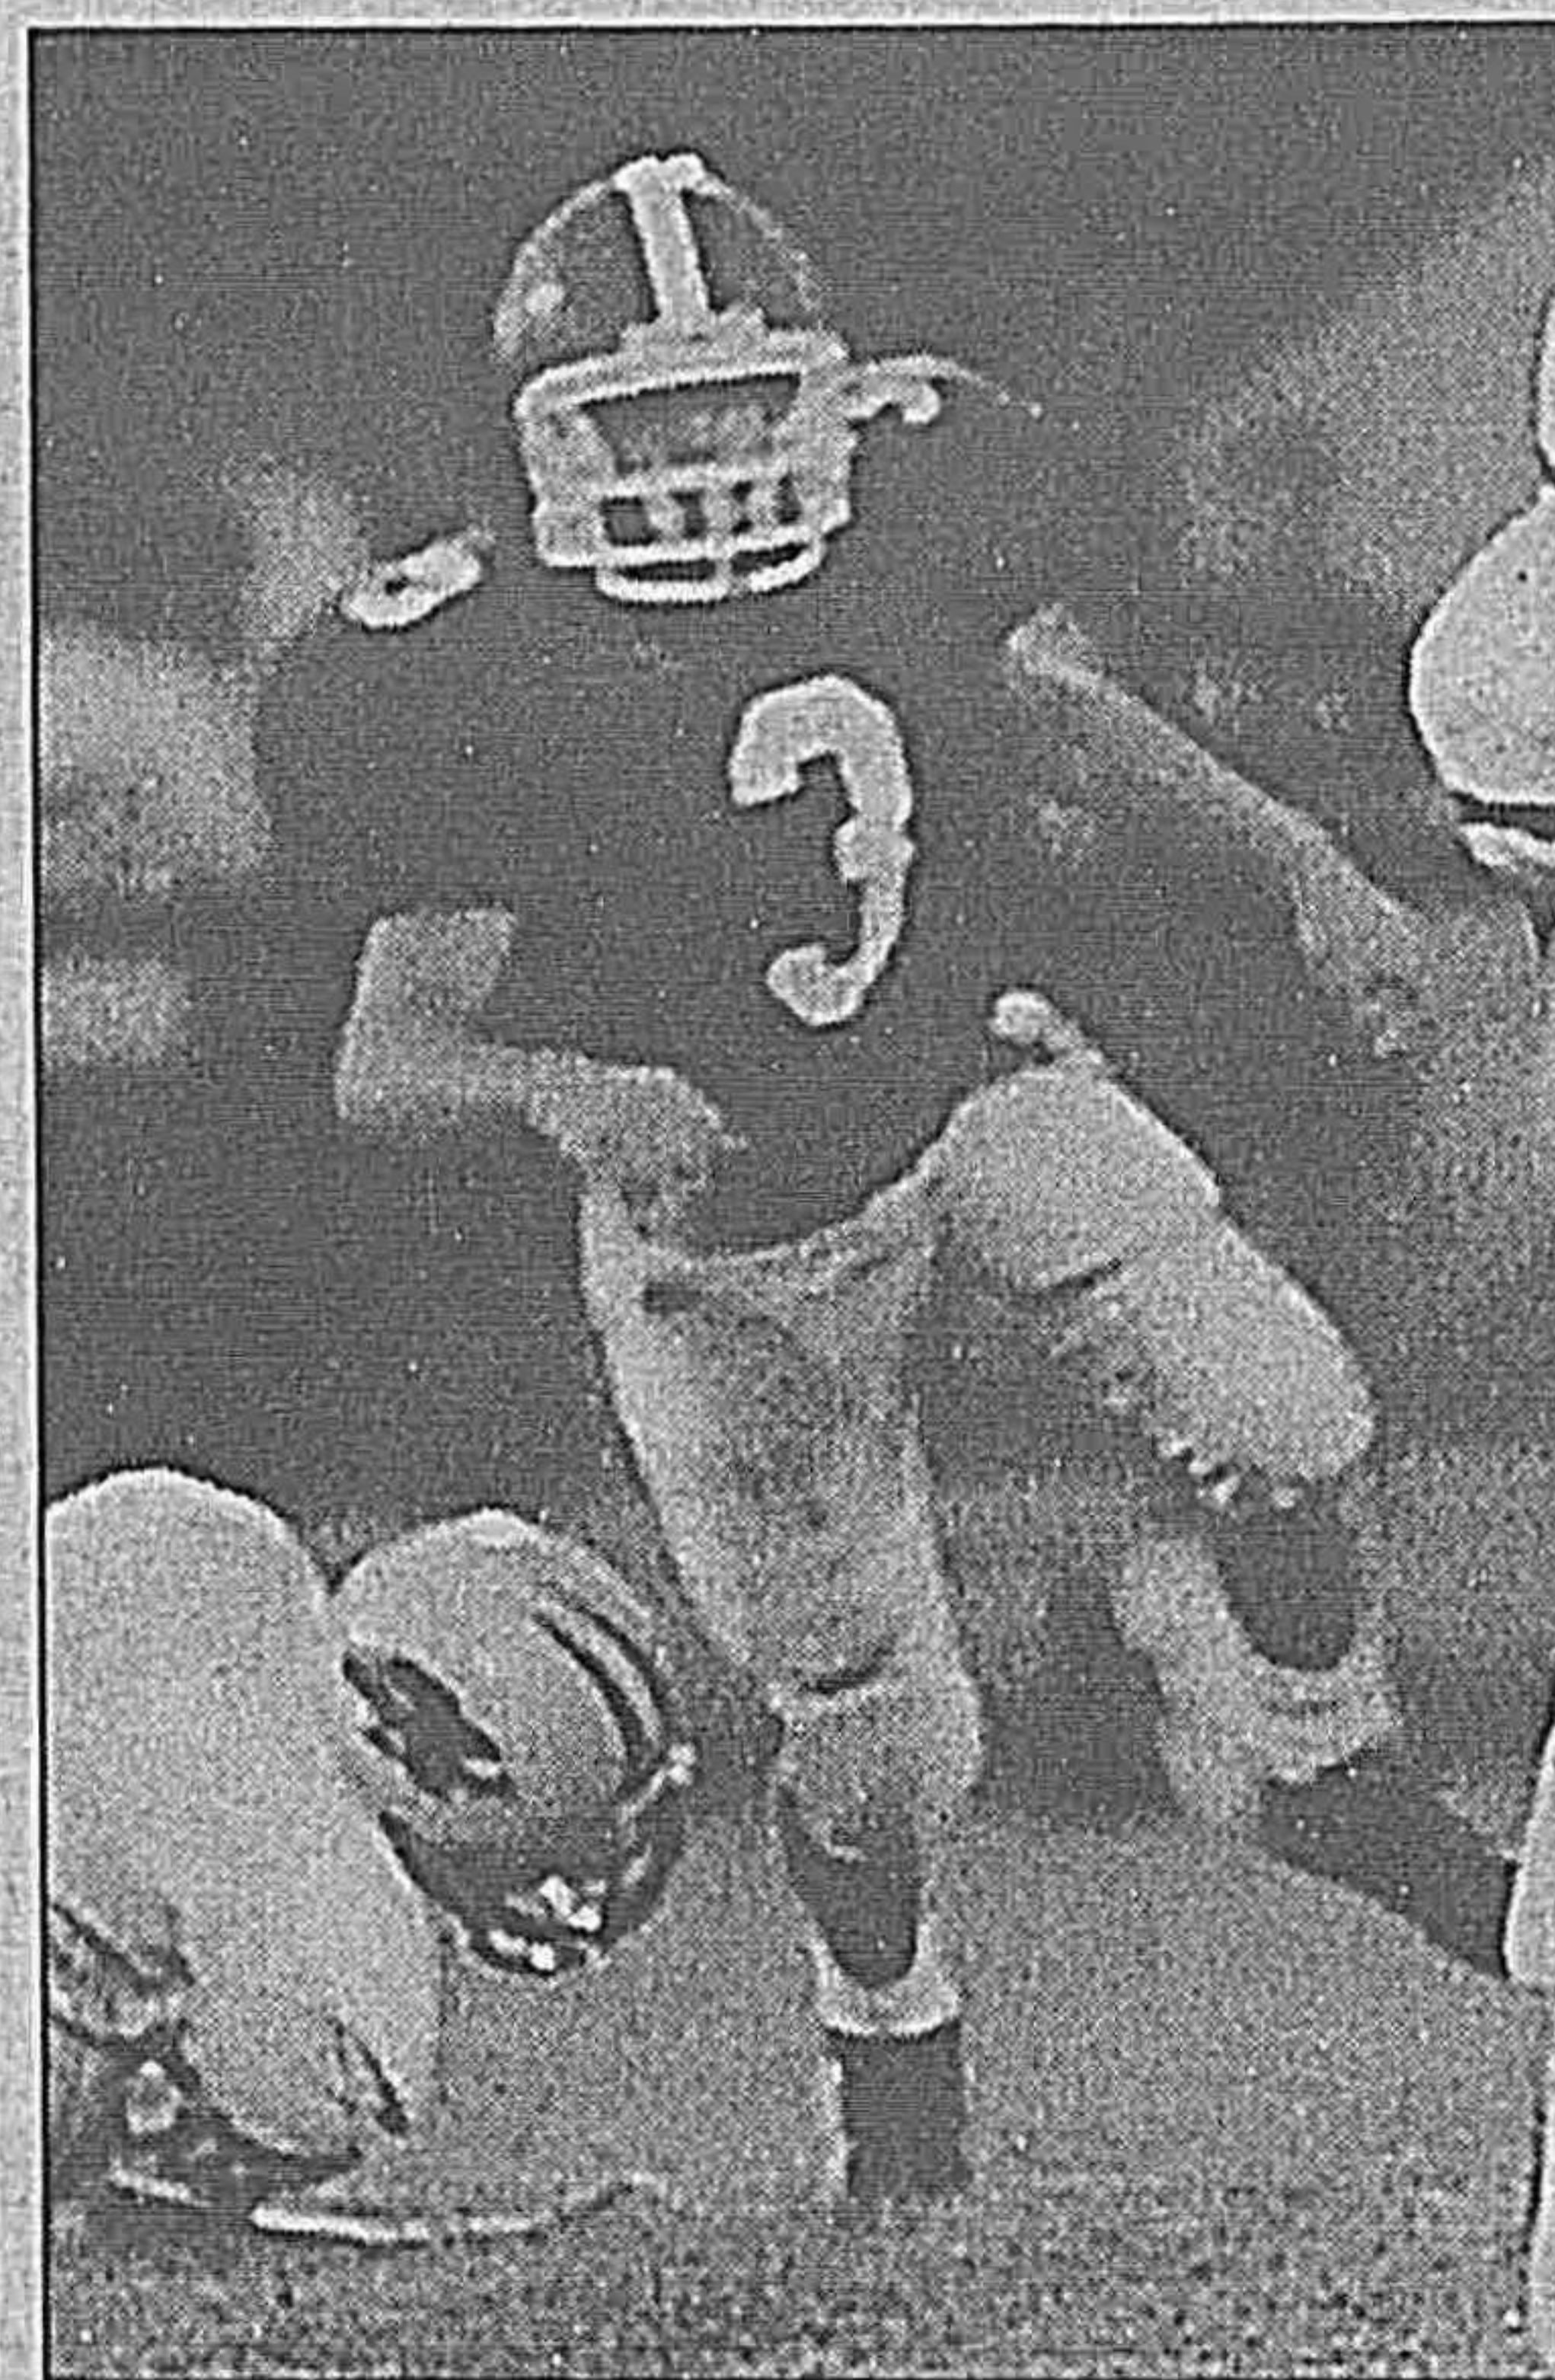

Steve Green was given the Henry Babicz award in recognition for all the hard work he did at the track. Steve has been a fixture at the Wilmot Speedway for longer than most can remember and is the man that anyone can go to if a hand is needed.

Sprint car driver Don Durham was given a plaque from promoter Marie Winker for all the help he provided to the Speedway in 2002. Durham, who owns Don's Truck Repair, not only raced his or Jack Duben's sprint car, but he maintained and repaired the speedway's vehicles as well throughout the year.

On one particular night, Don went as far as to repair the front cyclone fence that separates the spectators and the race track after a sprint car flipped into it damaging some of the fence. Durham is the kind of man no race track can operate without.

Sprint car competitor Frank Moser gave Marie Winker a beautiful sprint car tail tank clock as a gesture to say thanks for her efforts in rescuing the race track.

He belongs!

Lakeland's apologies for overlooking Grant senior Matt Fiordiroso, who should have been listed on the 2002 All-Area Football First Team in last week's edition. On the season, the defensive tackle and co-captain racked up 43 solo tackles to go along with 26 assists. More impressive perhaps were Nick's 15 tackles for a loss. His speed and 'nose for the ball' also earned him two fumble recoveries. He was an All-North Suburban First Team selection as well.—Photo by Candace H. Johnson

Motorsports Show dates set

On a related note, Track Announcer Mike Babicz announced that his "Let's Go Racing" Auto Racing Show will be held on March 28-30, 2003. The show will be held at the Factory Outlet Center off Interstate 294 and Hwy. 50 in Kenosha.

Another traditional auto racing show is moving into a new home and getting a new name. Wisconsin Motorsports Show, will now be known as Motorsports America. The shows new home will be at Wisconsin State Fair Park in the new exhibition building. Dates for this are Feb. 1-2, 2003. Wilmot Speedway will have a big presence at both these shows.

For more information about the Wilmot Speedway, check out the Wilmot Speedway web site at www.wilmotspeedway.com or contact Winker Motorsports at 262-694-0656.
